CHINESE ECONOMY GROWS 2.3% IN 2020, BUCKS GLOBAL TREND

China, the 1st to be hit by the Covid-19 pandemic and the earliest to recover too, registered 6.5% growth in the 4th quarter of 2020

SIZE OF GDP SWELLS TO $15.42 TRILLION

GDP of the world's second-largest economy grew to $15.42 trillion in 2020, according to China's National Bureau of Statistics (NBS). The growth, though the lowest in 45 years, is a remarkable achievement considering the country's economy had suffered a 6.8% slump in the first quarter in 2020, after it went into lockdown following the Wuhan virus outbreak

ONLY MAJOR ECONOMY TO GROW LAST YEAR

- Chinese economy staged a steady recovery on the back of radical virus containment measures and emergency relief for businesses
- China is the only major global economy to have grown last year
- China's job market also grew at 5.6%, creating 11.86 million new urban jobs in 2020, completing 131.8% of the whole-year target

Group D worker dies after jab in Ballari district

Health Department cites autopsy report, says it was due to massive cardiac arrest

A policeman gets a Covid vaccine shot at Dasappa Hospital, run by the BBMP, in Bengaluru on Monday | SHRIRAM BN

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA reported the death of a Group D employee, who was administered the 'Covishield' vaccine on Monday, the Day 3 of the mega-vaccination drive. But the State Health Ministry said that the death was not due to the vaccine, but because of a cardiac arrest as confirmed by the autopsy report.

The deceased, Nagaraj M, who had a history of diabetes and hypertension, was working at the Government Hospital in Sandur of Ballari district. After the vaccination on Saturday, he attended work the next two days. On Monday, he complained of chest pain and was admitted to the hospital, but passed away in the evening, said a health department official from Ballari.

An expert committee will be set up to probe Nagaraj's death as per the directions of Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar. Health Department officials said that the postmortem report will be further studied and if required, vital organs will be sent to the laboratory for further testing.

The Health Department release said, "Nagaraj passed away due to a massive heart attack. Monday morning when he came to duty, he complained of chest pain at around 9.30 am and collapsed. He was treated immediately and referred to Jindal Sanjeeveni Hospital. But he couldn't be saved. The district-level AEFI Committee met and had detailed discussions. The conclusion is that the death was due to cardiorespiratory arrest secondary to acute antereo septal wall MI."

Meanwhile, three more cases of adverse effects due to the vaccine were reported from Hunsur in Mysuru district and two from Chitradurga district. In Hunsur, a woman complained of chills within an hour of getting the vaccine. She was kept under observation for an hour and discharged. At the Kyasapura primary health centre in Chitradurga, a frontline worker felt an itching sensation soon after the vaccination and was immediately shifted to the district hospital, where he was treated and then discharged. In Hassan, two senior doctors had fever and pain. They recovered after required medicine was administered to them. CONTINUED ON: P5

No of wickets for Siraj in this series, the highest by an Indian

Speechless Siraj rises above tears and jeers

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

BEING in hard quarantine in a foreign land while grieving the loss of a family member can be soul crushing. The easier option is to go back, to comfort as well as be comforted. Being racially abused is dispiriting. It can leave one feeling worthless. Leading the bowling attack in just the third Test can be equally daunting, in a different way. It's fair to say Mohammed Siraj aced that latest challenge, becoming just the fifth Indian bowler to grab a five-for at The Gabba.

Even though India may not chase down 328 (if weather relents) on the final day to win the series, Siraj held his end of the bargain on the fourth day of the final Test against Australia. And how. His latest act in what has been an emotional series left the Hyderabadi speechless. He visibly struggled to hold back the tears while returning with the match ball.

India chase 328 on Day 5

India were set a challenging target to chase on the final day of Brisbane Test. If India manage to draw against hosts, they will retain the Border-Gavaskar trophy | P17

The tears, though, also told a wider story of his struggles. His father died days after India landed in Sydney in November. The son of an autorickshaw driver, the 26-year-old driver hadn't even bowled with a proper cricket ball till seven-eight years. He spent his time playing tennis ball cricket, admitting that concepts like seam and swing were alien to him.

But, thanks to a common trait running through this Indian team — ability to fight and create your own destiny — he has fought his way through the system. Through tennis ball tournaments. Through Ranji Trophy. Through India A tours. Through the IPL. Through a tragedy. Through racial abuse.

At the Gabba, he went to fight for his father's dreams and his dreams. He emerged with a smile on his face and happy tears down his eyes. "My dad had wished that his son would play and the entire world would watch him," he said after the day's play. "I hope he could have been there to watch this day. Because of his blessings I have got a five-wicket haul. I am speechless. I got strength after talking to mom and my focus was on realising my dad's dreams."

NO MORE FREE RICE UNDER ANNA BHAGYA?

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @ Bengaluru

IF everything goes as per proposal, the poor in Karnataka may have to pay for food grains under the 'Anna Bhagya' scheme which is free now. Government sources said that only a nominal amount will be charged and the money collected will be given back to the beneficiaries.

At present, 5 kg of rice per individual per month is given to families holding below poverty line (BPL) cards. Over 1.22 crore families and 4.27 crore individuals are benefiting from the scheme. While the rice is free for BPL cardholders, ₹15 per kg is charged for families holding above poverty line (APL) cards. Every month, the government requires 2.18 lakh metric tonnes of rice and crores of rupees for the scheme.

Sources in the Food and Civil Supplies Department said that experts have suggested to the government to reduce the quantity of rice and to supply other essentials instead.

"The allocated rice is more than the consumption. At some public distribution system shops, the rice under the scheme is being sold illegally, allowing mushrooming of agents who are making money on the sly. On one side, the government is spending crores and on the other, the scheme is being misused. If a nominal amount of ₹2-3 is charged per kg, the government will get some revenue, which can be used to procure other essentials for the beneficiaries," the sources said.

We are still discussing whether to charge a nominal amount for fortified rice or give it along with regular rice. The CM will call us for a meeting and we'll discuss this issue

Sources in Food and Civil Supplies Dept

The government is also planning to introduce fortified rice, which will have added micronutrients, to the beneficiaries. "Experts have pointed out that the regular rice is not helping beneficiaries get required nutrients," the department sources said.

Joint House session from January 28

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE joint session of the Karnataka Legislature will be held from January 28 to February 5. Governor Vajubhai Vala will address the joint session on the first day of the session.

While the first day is limited to Governor's address, discussions on the address and other issues will be held during the remaining six days.

Both the Houses were convened last during the Winter Session in December, and were adjourned sine die on December 10. However, the Council met for a day again on December 15 for the no-confidence motion against Chairman K Pratapchandra Shetty. The Council had witnessed high drama with Congress members manhandling and pulling down Deputy Chairman Dharme Gowda from the Chair.

The government had earlier indicated that the Budget session is likely to be held in March.

Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai during a video conference with Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, in Bengaluru on Monday | EXPRESS

THE Union Government should release special grants of ₹5,495 crore to Karnataka as recommended by the the 15th Finance Commission in its report for 2020-21, demanded Home Minister Basavaraj Bommai during a virtual meeting with Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Monday.

"We request the Union Government to accept the recommendations and release the special grants to us, as Karnataka is one of the best tax governed states," said Bommai, attending the meeting on behalf of Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa, who holds the finance portfolio too. The Centre should share the commission's devolution formula for the next four years to help states initiate the budget exercise, he added.

He said that the Union Government should consider the state's interest while revising the estimates to avoid an adverse impact on the state's expenditure commitment and not to revise it downwards.

After heavy floods caused havoc in the state in August and September last year, the Union Government released ₹1,369 crore as against ₹2,261 crore. P4

Didi's Nandigram googly to upset Suvendu's plans

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

UPPING her game in the upcoming West Bengal elections, Trinamool Congress supremo and chief minister Mamata Banerjee on Monday said she would contest from Nandigram against her once-trusted lieutenant Suvendu Adhikari, who joined the BJP last month. It was Nandigram, the epicentre of farmers' movement, that propelled her to power 10 years ago.

"It is my lucky place. I will contest from here," she said, while addressing a rally in Nandigram, adding that she would also contest from her own Bhowanipore constituency in south Kolkata.

Banerjee's is a political move to challenge the Adhikari family members, who claim to be the kingmakers in the district with 16 seats.

Tandav cast, crew forced to issue apology

EXPRESS NEW SERVICE @ Lucknow/Patna/New Delhi

AT least three criminal complaints were filed in various parts of the country against Saif Ali Khan-starrer web series Tandav, forcing its cast and crew to issue an apology on Monday evening.

While an FIR was filed in Lucknow, two complaints were lodged with the courts in New Delhi and Bihar's Muzaffarpur district for allegedly hurting religious sentiments of Hindus and promoting discord among communities.

The series, released on January 15 and aired on Amazon Prime, is said to be a commentary on the prevailing political situation in the country. Other than Khan, the other prominent actors are Dimple Kapadia, Gauhar Khan, Sunil Grover and Zeeshan Ayub. CONTINUED ON: P9

Send engineers to parent depts, CM instructs BDA

Says review meeting to be held with officials once in two months as part of Mission 2022

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF MINISTER BS Yediyurappa directed officials of the Bengaluru Development Authority (BDA) to release additional engineers and lawyers who work with them, either on deputation or on contract. This move is said to streamline financial implication. The Chief Minister also directed BDA officials to take action against agents.

In a review meeting, the CM said there are 24 additional engineers working with BDA on deputation. He directed officials to review and send them back to their parent departments. Similarly, there are 196 lawyers working in the BDA, and Yediyurappa directed that they also be reviewed, and those not working for any case, be released from the panel with immediate effect. "Bengaluru is among the top cities of the world. The state government is committed to provide all facilities on par with global standards," he added. The CM said Prime Minister Narendra Modi has also given suggestions for the comprehensive development of Bengaluru. "We have announced our 'Bengaluru Mission 2022'... this review meeting is a part of that," he said.

On farmers' land, the CM said that he has directed officials to give residential sites to those farmers who offered their lands for residential layouts. He added that the sites will be given to them at their chosen locations. On the peripheral ring road, the CM said they have a plan to develop it at an estimated cost of Rs 21,091 crore with private partnership. The same has been approved, and will be done in the scheduled time. He also said that a review meeting will be held with BDA officials once in two months.

S&T DEPT SEEKS APPROVAL FROM CENTRE FOR TECH CLUSTERS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

"WHAT we exhibited in science and technology during the Covid pandemic is the tip of the iceberg. We need to collectively come together and blur boundaries between the public and private, universities and research institutes and create a strong foundation even in tier three cities," said Renu Swarup, secretary, Department of Biotechnology, Ministry of Science and Technology.

Delivering the M J Thirumalachar and M J Narasimhan Endowment Lecture, hosted by the IISc on New and Emerging Technologies: Key Drivers of Bioeconomy Growth, she said the Department of Science and Technology has so far been responsible in empowering startups and small industries to take technologies from labs to markets. "More than 750 of our active startups have been valued at more than Rs 3,500 crore," she added.

Now, the department is trying to establish technology clusters for startups that are too big for an incubator and too small for industrial parks. "We are trying to get necessary approvals from the government," she said.

India was self-reliant in 90 days with 200 Covid-19 diagnostic kits approved by ICMR. Of them, 100 were indigenously developed. The largest manufacturing hub setup in Visakhapatnam completed 100 lakh kits on January 5, she said.

The speed at which Covid vaccines moved was also interesting.

A wonderful ecosystem was created, clinical trial sites were setup to facilitate vaccine development, academia and industry collaboration was evident and global partnerships were established for Covid accelerators, she said.

RERA to levy delay fee on builders across state

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

THE Real Estate Regulatory Authority-Karnataka (RERA-K) will impose a fine of wwRs 10,000 per month on builders across the State for not filing quarterly updates on the status of their projects, which is mandatory under the RERA Act. As per statistics available on its portal, the updates have not been uploaded for 811 projects.

RERA-K Chairperson K S Lathakumari told The New Indian Express, "The quarterly updates need to be compulsorily updated by the builders as they give the buyers an idea of the physical progress of the houses. The financial details pertaining to the amount collected as well as the amount spent so far too need to be updated." She said that this pertains only to the period up to December 2019. "We have given a waiver for the year 2020 for all the projects due to Covid-19. However, the updates have not been filed even for the previous year by the builders," she said.

A 'Delay Fee' of Rs 10,000 per month would be imposed on each project, she said. "A common reason given for not filing quarterly updates was that the job was handed over by them to a consultant or a third party or even an employee who had quit. Some of them do not even know their login ID to update their projects. Hence, we have asked them to apply for it again online and update the reports."

As per statistics available, 512 projects have not applied for extension on the RERA portal. Of these, 413 projects have not filed quarterly updates even for a single financial quarter. Out of another 515 projects that are ongoing ones, 398 have not filed quarterly updates. Action would be initiated under RERA Act under these provisions: Sections7 (3) revocation, Section 34 (1) and Section 63.

A total of 126 projects are set to get exemption from the penalty. "Of these, a total of 39 projects that had applied for a deadline extension to complete their projects would be allowed to do so and file quarterly updates within a month without delay fee," the chairperson said. "Another 87 projects have applied for an extension and their applications are pending. Even they would get a month's time to file their updates without the delay fee," she added.

We have given a waiver for the year 2020 for all the projects due to Covid-19. However, the updates have not been filed even for the previous year by the builders

SWEET NEWS!

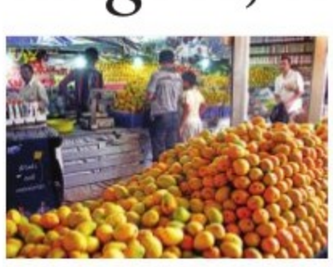
It's the 'on year' for mangoes, to hit market in March

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

IT will be a sweet harvest at the end of a bitter year: the much-loved mango will reach the markets as early as March, and the crop will be good too. A bumper crop means that prices will be low, say officials of the Karnataka State Mango Development and Marketing Corporation Limited (KSMDMCL).

The November rainfall may have caused damage to many flowering and standing crops, but some farmers in Ramanagara were able to save some of the flowering trees which will now yield a good crop.

Normally, the crop hits the market in April, or end of March, but this year, it will arrive by March, said KSMDMCL chairman C G Nagaraju. "The weather is fluctuating frequently. Rain during the flowering season affects the crops, but now the weather is dry and sunny, so the fruits are ripening on time and the crop will be early.



Ramanagara's first crop of Sindhura will hit the market in March, followed by Badami in April. Then crops from Kolar and Chikkaballapur will also come into the market," he said.

He said that this time, farmers were worried because of heavy rainfall in November, but were able to save some of the crops, resulting in an early yield.

According to the board, the early crops are Badami, Sindhura and Raspuri, the mid-season crops are Mallika, Malgova and Banesha (Banganapalli) and the late crops are Totapuri and Neelam. "The is the 'on year' for mango so we are expecting a bumper crop, but the weather is fickle. Last year, despite the Covid and lockdown, farmers made good business because of online sales, with 100 tonnes sold online through post offices and e-business platforms. This year too, we are holding talks with all platforms for more tie-ups to help farmers," Nagaraju said.

In 2018, the crop was good, but prices were low so farmers did not benefit. In 2019, crop was less and prices were high, and in 2020 too, crop was less, but farmers benefited despite Covid.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

19th January: I know I've said it before - but I'll say it again. Tuesday is ruled by the planet Mars. Why that should be so, nobody knows. Such things are lost in ancient wisdom. However, the tradition holds that babies born today should be energetic, active, little creatures - and quite possibly a handful!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Yesterday's rather awkward planetary aspects are replaced by a small burst of romance and idealism. In a sense this is a dangerous combination for all but the most irresponsible day-dreamers. Common sense dictates that cash concerns must come first, and the next few days look pretty expensive.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Mercury's friendly challenge to your chart is an indication of rare poetic charm. Among those Taureans who are in for special treatment this week, are all involved in education, the law, travel and communication. There are also distinctly hopeful signs for those of you with professional ambitions under way.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You'll be eager to weigh in with your assessment of the facts but I'm afraid that your judgment may be a bit faulty. You see, Mercury, which rules your razor-sharp brain, is currently a little rusty. It's also inclined to blow tiny details into major issues of principle.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Your grip on the figures needs to be sharper. Plus, it's time to wallow in the fact that you were born a caring, compassionate, artistic, creative, poetic and soulful Cancerian. Your romantic and emotional stars are about to take a turn for the better, by the way!

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
Confusion and chaos are not a necessary part of the week's personal developments, but will creep in if you imagine that it's possible to carry on as before. Great subtlety is required, especially if partners come to feel that you have let them down. Even if you haven't, you may still have to reassure them.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
The real advances over the coming month will be made in social areas. Lovers, close friends and even strangers will all offer you the stimulation and support you need and deserve. Looking ahead, your financial situation is about to shift gears, so get up to date with yourself, now.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
A sensational aspect to a sensitive sector of your solar chart is encouraging your artistic inclinations. Be sure to keep everything clear and above board at work and set out to impress individuals in authority. You may postpone a number of practical matters until certainty returns.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You're fond of laying down the law, but do think long and hard before issuing any directives or ultimatums. Teach by example and don't think that just because you espouse a particular set of standards or ideals, other people should agree with you. You see, what works this week may not be so effective next week.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
The best advice I can give you is to accept a personal dilemma philosophically. If you find this difficult, try ignoring stressful developments and embark on an entirely different course. You need to think very carefully in all work and routine matters - if you jump the gun, you'll miss one vital detail.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
In spite of an unusual amount of irritation in the heavens, you are afforded a unique opportunity to completely rearrange your plans. You see, difficulties and rewards always go hand in hand in the zodiac. You could even turn a legal hitch or ethical question to your advantage.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Everything that came to light in a roundabout way must now be analysed and understood. It seems most likely that, before very much longer, you will have reached a much deeper understanding of your own purpose in this life. If you get the larger pattern figured out, you'll make sense of a number of otherwise meaningless, personal developments.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Your personal stress level should begin to drop. Bitter disappointments and hard knocks have taught you a few tough lessons in the past, but you must ask yourself whether now is not the time to forget what has been and look forward to the future.

Closure of anganwadis due to Covid-19 led to more children going without food

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Monday reconstituted the committee to monitor the process of identification, medical examination and treatment of malnourished children, adolescent girls, pregnant women and lactating mothers in the state.

According to the order passed by the division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum in relation to a suo motu PIL, the committee will be headed by A N Venugopala Gowda, a former judge of the Karnataka High Court. The members of the committee are the Commissioner of Health and Family Welfare Department, Director of Women and Child Development, Chairperson of Karnataka State Commission of Child Rights, M S Tara, former regional director of National Institute of Public Cooperation and Child Development, Director of Indira Gandhi Institute of Child Health, and Member-Secretary of the Karnataka State Legal Services Authority and advocate Clifton D' Rozario.

During the hearing, the attention of the court was drawn on the matter that the number of malnourished children have increased in the state, as the anganwadis were closed amidst Covid-19 from March 2020.

It may be noted that nutritious food is being supplied to children, adolescent girls, pregnant women and lactating mothers under different schemes of the government. The High Court had appointed a committee under the chairmanship of Justice NK Patil in 2012, and the committee had recommended several measures to tackle malnutrition.

EXPLAIN TENDER CANCELLATION, STATE TOLD

Bengaluru: The Karnataka High Court on Monday directed the State government to file an affidavit, explaining the reasons for cancelling the multi-crore tender floated for advanced ambulance service system, to see that the 'golden hour' is not lost for critical patients, at the instance of a minister. A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum passed the order, stating that the government cancelled the tender at the instance of Health and Family Welfare and Medical Education Minister, that too after assuring the court that it will be finalised soon. Hearing the PIL filed by Bharat Punarutthana Trust, the Bench orally observed, "You (State) suddenly wake up from slumber and cancel the tender. You can't do this and your intention is very clear. It is at the instance of a minister, who has no business to cancel the tender."

BTC is public authority under RTI: High Court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court has held that the Bangalore Turf Club Limited, Mysore Race Club Limited, Ladies Club, Bengaluru, and The Institution of Engineers (India), Karnataka, are 'public authorities' as defined under the Right to Information Act.

Upholding the order of the Karnataka Information Commission (KIC) in this regard, and dismissing the petitions filed by these institutions, Justice P B Bajanthri noted that the petitioners were all non-government organisations, which have benefited directly or indirectly by funds provided by the state government, and would fall under "public authority" under Section 2(h) of the Right to Information Act, 2005.

These institutions filed separate petitions in the high court, questioning the KIC orders on the petition filed by S Umapathi seeking certain information.

After hearing the parties, the court said that the State largesse has been extended to the petitioners under lease deeds in relation to land. Therefore, they are holding lease lands on behalf of the people and are accountable to the people. If this material information is taken into consideration, one has to draw inference that the petitioners do fall under the definition of 'public authority' under Act, 2005, the court added.

The court pointed out that the information submitted to it reveals that BTCL and MRCL had been leased land at a throwaway price. If the market value of the land is taken on a particular date, then it is evident that huge indirect financial aid has been provided by the State to the petitioners, it said.

> The State largesse has been extended to the petitioners under lease deeds in relation to land. Therefore, they are holding lease lands on behalf of the people and are accountable to the people
> K'taka High Court

In respect of the other two petitioners -- Ladies Club and The Institution of Engineers – the court said that they had not provided the details of the lease amount.

In view of the factual aspects of the matter and dictum of law, the petitioners have not made out a case so as to interfere with the KIC's impugned orders. Accordingly, the petitions are dismissed, the court said.

Notice to state on appointment of advisors to CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Monday issued notice to the State Government on a PIL questioning the appointment of advisors/political secretaries to the Chief Minister.

A division bench of Chief Justice Abhay Shreeniwas Oka and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum issued notice after hearing the petition filed by Samaj Parivarthana Samudaya, represented by its founder president S R Hiremath.

The petitioner has challenged the appointment of Mahadev Prakash, Mohan A Limbikai, GS Sunil, Shankargowda I Patil, MP Renukacharya, Belur Sudarshan, MB Maramkal and Lakshminarayana. It may be noted that some of them have resigned from their post.

The petitioner contended that a post equivalent to a Constitutional office cannot be created under an executive order, under Article 162 of the Constitution of India. This is exactly what is done in the appointment of the advisors/political secretaries. The government has virtually created parallel hybrid Constitutional functionalities just to please loyalists. These posts are aimless and meaningless, the petitioner claimed.

It was also contended in the plea that the ruling party could not accommodate its followers who helped it form the government either on its own or by toppling the existing one. Hence, an ingenious methodology was devised to accommodate these loyalists and lobbyists in the government by providing the status of a cabinet minister. This has been achieved by creating several "advisor" posts with cabinet ministerial rank.

ROWDY ATTACKS COPS, SHOT AT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A rowdy sheeter was shot at and arrested by the Girinagar police, after he allegedly attacked the police team which tried to arrest him.

Vijay alias Gonne Viji (23), a resident of Jayanagar, is the accused who was shot at. Police said that Vijay, who has a criminal record in Girinagar police station, was arrested in connection with an attempt to murder case in October last year. He was released on bail on January 13.

"On Sunday night, at around 11.30 pm, the police received information that he was armed with a dagger and was trying to rob people near PES college on the ring road. A police team rushed to the spot to nab him. On seeing the police, he attacked constable Madhusudhan with the weapon. Sub-inspector Vinay, who fired a warning shot, opened fire at Vijay as he continued attacking the police. He sustained bullet injuries in his leg and collapsed. Both the accused and the injured constable were rushed to hospital," a police officer said.

Cops fire at murder suspects

KG Halli police on Monday nabbed two rowdies after an exchange of fire at an apartment complex in Puttenahalli near JP Nagar. Tension gripped in the locality following the incident.

The accused have been identified as Mehraj and Abrar, who are wanted in murder and attempt to murder cases. They were absconding, and had also assaulted a police officer in Kolar a year ago, police said.

1.4 kg gold seized at KIA from intl flyers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A total of 1.38 kg of gold, valued at over Rs 70 lakh, has been seized by the Air Intelligence Unit of the Customs department of the Kempegowda International Airport in three separate incidents. The gold was concealed by passengers from Gulf countries in a nickel coated chain, inside inner wear as well as in a waist band.

According to Customs officials, the most recent incident occurred on January 17 when a male passenger from Kuwait reached KIA in an Indigo flight (6E 8751). "Based on passenger profiling, we scanned the nickel chain of the male passenger, who hails from Andhra Pradesh. We found that nickel had been coated over a gold chain and it weighed 105.02 grams. It is valued at Rs 5,32,976," an official said.

The second incident occurred on January 15 and involved a passenger coming from a Fly Dubai flight (FZ 4007) from Dubai. "The male passenger, a native of Thane in Maharashtra, had melted gold in paste form and put it in a plastic cover. It was stitched behind the brand name of his inner wear," he said.

The final incident, on January 14, was the biggest seizure of the three. "A woman passenger onboard a Fly Dubai flight (FZ 4007) from Dubai was frisked following suspicious behaviour. She had concealed gold in paste form in her waistband. It weighed 1 kg and 114 grams. It has a market value of Rs 56,61,445," another Customs official said.

Ponzi scam: Investors told to give papers

Bengaluru: Sleuths of the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) investigating the ponzi scam related to Muzaribah Bullion Trading Solutions Pvt Ltd, has asked the investors to submit related documents and record their statements. The firm had allegedly cheated hundreds of people by promising high returns and had received investments from them. In 2018, two complaints were registered against the firm in Pulikeshinagar and JC Nagar police stations. The complainants had stated that the proprietors of the firm had floated several investment schemes, promising 60-100 per cent returns within a short period. The DG & IGP had referred the case for a detailed investigation to the CID, in March 2020. As part of the probe, the Criminal Investigation Department has requested investors to meet the Investigation Officer of the case, T Somashekhar, Police Inspector, Financial Intelligence Unit, CID, with documents such as the MoU signed with the firm, bank statements, and related documents and record their statement.

Man files assault case against wife

Bengaluru: A 48-year-old employee of an MNC filed a case of cheating and physical assault against his wife, who allegedly demanded Rs 1 crore from him and also threatened that she would file a case of dowry harassment. The complainant, Ravi Varma (name changed), stated that he had married Isha in 2018. She began forcing Varma to buy her jewellery and insisted that he regularly take her out to shop. A few months later, she allegedly started hitting him. In January 2020, Varma approached a senior police officer and complained that Isha and her brother, Akshay Omar, allegedly threatened him that he would be killed if he does not pay up Rs 1 crore. They also assaulted him. Varma's wife also threatened that she would file a dowry harassment case against him, if he did not arrange the money. Varma ignored her threats, but in March 2020, Isha stopped his bike in the middle of the road and allegedly assaulted him. The police, however, refused to intervene viewing it as a family issue. Varma has now again approached Banasawadi police and filed an FIR.

The chief minister of Maharashtra is a jobless man and people have lost confidence in his government. The government there is like a saying in Hindi, 'Teen tigaada, kaam bigaada'. Uddhav Thackeray is playing politics to cover up the mess his government has created. Let them scream as loud as they want to but they cannot claim even an inch of Karnataka's land

Prabhu Chauhan,
Animal Husbandry Minister

Kannadigas are in many places in Maharashtra. Should we demand the same areas to be to included in Karnataka? Thackeray should not give such statements. It has become a habit of some individuals and parties in Maharashtra to frequently raise issues of water and border. By giving such statements, they think they will win the hearts of Marathi people. We Kannadigas and Marathi-speaking people are like brothers

Belagavi is an integral part of Karnataka. The Mahajan report has been already accepted. At this moment, the Maharashtra government is trying to create issues unnecessarily. Netas unite, slam Uddhav for bid to disturb harmony

Mahajan report final, say BSY, Siddu, HDK; protests held in B'luru, Belagavi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengalur

CUTTING across party lines, party leaders in Karnataka slammed Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray for his tweet that his government was committed to incorporating Marathi-speaking areas of Karnataka into his state.

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa took strong objection, saying Thackeray's comments can disrupt peace and harmony among people. In a series of tweets, Yediyurappa said Marathas are living in harmony with Kannadigas in Karnataka, and Kannadigas in the border districts of Maharashtra are living in harmony with Marathi-speaking people.

He said he is pained at Thackeray's remarks. "I expect Shri Uddhav Thackeray, as a true Indian, to show his commitment and respect the principles of federalism in letter and spirit," he tweeted.

His statement raking up the border issue in the name of Marathi language and culture is unwarranted, he said, adding that "the Mahajan Commission report on this matter is final".

Former Chief Minister and Leader of Opposition Siddaramaiah, too, said Kannadigas will never compromise on matters related to Karnataka's land, water and language. "Protecting our State is our responsibility," he said. Stressing that the Mahajan report is final, he said, "You are not just a Shiv Sena activist. Don't forget that you are also a responsible Chief Minister. Belagavi is an integral part of Karnataka. Don't try to instigate us by bringing up the issue which is already resolved."

JDS leader and former Chief Minister HD Kumaraswamy too objected to Thackeray's statement, saying it is akin to China's border stand. "Thackeray's statement will disturb harmony," he said.

"Many Kannadiga kings were ruling Maharashtra regions. If Thackeray looks at history, he will know who is ruling whose land. If we had given a befitting reply to MES which opposes Kannada flags in Belagavi, this day would not have come and Thackeray would not have the courage to say these words," he said.

The purpose of constructing Suvarna Soudha and holding assembly sessions is to declare that Belagavi is a part of Karnataka, if attempts are made to disturb it, Kannadigas will give a fitting reply, he added.

MES, Shiv Sena raise slogans to merge parts of state with Maharashtra

Maharashtra Ekikaran Samiti (MES) and Shiv Sena members in Belagavi raised anti-Karnataka slogans. They participated in large numbers during the 'Martyr day' programme of those Marathi linguistics who died in Karnataka-Maharashtra border dispute at Hutatma chowk in Belagavi on Sunday. They raised slogans for the merger of Belagavi, Karwar, Nippani, Bidar, Bhalki into Maharashtra during the rally. They observed the martyr day in police protection. However, the pro-Karnataka organisations have expressed anger over them being allowed to observe 'Martyr Day' and urged to ban those organisations in the state. ENS

BATTLE FOR BENGALURU

THREE 'A's TOP CONTENDERS FOR BIG 'B' PORTFOLIO

ANUSHA RAVI @Bengaluru

WITH his cabinet of 33 now set, Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa's next task is already cut out — portfolio allocation. With seven new ministers in the cabinet, Yediyurappa has called for a meeting on senior ministers on Tuesday to hold consultations on portfolio reallocation. While he hopes the process is smooth, unlike the cabinet expansion that ruffled a lot of feathers, the all-important portfolio of Bengaluru Development has too many contenders. While some of the newcomers are keen that the chief minister will continue to keep the portfolio with himself, sources in the party suggest that one of the BJP old-timers will be given the portfolio as a means of balancing out differences. While there are eight ministers from Bengaluru in the cabinet, three of them — Dr C N Ashwath Narayan, Arvind Limbavali and R Ashok — have emerged top contenders for the portfolio.

Given the mood in the party over newcomers being given the priority, the portfolio reallocation comes as a chance at reconciliation for the chief minister who has been asked to address the party's concerns and build harmony between the party and the government by Home Minister Amit Shah. "Some of the key ministries are likely to be reassigned to party old-timers. Apart from Finance, DPAR and Intelligence, BS Yediyurappa is looking to distribute all other portfolios and R Ashok is a frontrunner for the Bengaluru development portfolio," said a source close to the CM. "I have a lot of work to do to help farmers. It hasn't even been a year since I took over this department. Those in charge of additional portfolios may be divested of multiple responsibilities but it is, at the end of it, the chief minister's call," said ST Somashekhar, Minister for Cooperation.

The thinking in the CMO seems to be that Dr CN Ashwath Narayan, with his already heavyweight title of DyCM, won't fit the bill for Bengaluru portfolio. R Ashoka, a senior minister who took a step down from previously being a DyCM or Arvind Limbavali, who waited for a year to be made a minister after playing a key role in wooing coalition MLAs towards BJP, are tough contenders. Given his seniority and loyalty to BS Yediyurappa, Somanna is also in the run. Meanwhile, MLC-turned-minister CP Yogeshwara is said to be keen on Energy portfolio while Murugesh Nirani has his eyes set on Excise.

Siddaramaiah counters Shah's claims on funds

ENS @Bengaluru

IT was a battle of statistics between Union Home Minister Amit Shah and former CM Siddaramaiah. During his rally on Sunday, Shah questioned the Congress' contribution to Karnataka during the United Progressive Alliance (UPA) regime. In response, Opposition Leader Siddaramaiah on Monday presented an account of funds released to the State during the UPA and NDA regimes, to highlight discrepancies in Central fund distribution to Karnataka.

Shah gave numbers to suggest that the BJP government had given more funds to the State than the UPA government. "The UPA government, under the 13th Finance Commission, gave only ₹88,583 crore, but under the 14th Finance Commission, the Modi government gave the State ₹2,19,506 crore," Shah said.

Siddaramaiah countered Shah's claim with details from 2010 onwards. "During the UPA, from 2010-2011 to 2013-2014, the 13th Finance Commission recommended ₹45,713 crore for Karnataka. The actual devolution by the Centre was ₹47,036 crore. During the BJP government, from 2014-2015 to 2019-2020, the 13th and 14th Finance Commissions had recommended ₹2,03,039 crore for Karnataka, but actual devolution was ₹1,65,963 crore, which is 18.2% less. Karnataka should have received ₹48,768 crore in 2019-2020 as per the 14th Finance Commission, but got only ₹30,919 crore," he pointed out.

Adding that Karnataka contributes more than ₹2.2 lakh crore to the Centre through various taxes, Siddaramaiah said the State receives only ₹28,581 crore on paper. "If we consider 41% devolution as promised, Karnataka should have got at least ₹70,000-₹90,000 crore," he said, adding that the State's share in devolution was reduced from 4.72% in the 14th Finance Commission to 3.64% in the 15th Finance Commission.

Karnataka's estimated share in 2020-21 is ₹28,591 crore, but actual devolution will not be more than ₹16,000 crore, given the current trend. Karnataka will lose about ₹15,000 crore in GST compensation too. Will Amit Shah ensure justice to Karnataka?" Siddaramaiah asked.

Software turns great leveller for quota

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

THE introduction of IT comes as a great leveller for reservations in the election of presidents and vice-presidents, following the keenly-fought village panchayat elections. The computerised reservation matrix has, for the first time, eliminated vested interests in reservations.

The new system of reservation on caste and gender basis has brought relief for the disadvantaed, and helped marginalised sections, communities and women, who had no voice, influence or local clout. It has also saved officials much stress, with one assistant commissioner, pleading anonymity, saying the software has saved them from political pulls and pressures.

Until now, politicians, elected representatives and dominant families ruled the roost in deciding reservation to match their convenience. Now, reservation is finalised by software and announced in the presence of the district Deputy Commissioners, ensuring transparency and better social justice. There were many examples of reservation being dictated by local representatives till 2014, as they could not antagonise the dominant communities, families or local leaders.

For instance, Sheeka Narayan was lucky to win by one vote in Malahalli in Emmaragala panchayat, and will be the panchayat president as she is the lone SC woman candidate in the 16-member panchayat. The president's post was reserved for 'SC Woman' as it was not reserved for it since 1993. However, this has stunned other members as a majority of them are from other categories.

In Duggahalli, Sudha, who grazes cattle, won as the post was reserved for 'SC Woman'. While the 15-member panchayat has 8 GM, BCM A and SC, ST members, those gathered during the lottery were taken by surprise.

In T Narsipur taluk, the posts of president and vice-president went to a wife and husband, as for the first time, the reservation was for ST Woman and ST Man. This reservation matrix has not gone down well with elected representatives as they are unable to accommodate and protect the interests of their supporters.

Local MLAs and leaders are under fire, and many are unhappy at being left out. A few even called up the authorities to apprise them of their choice so it would help them politically. BJP MP V Srinivasa Prasad admitted that he was under tremendous pressure from party men and supporters to help them get reservation of their choice. "If I had an opportunity, I would have helped them, but everything is fed into the software and finalised transparently," he added.

A ruling BJP MLA said his supporters' hopes were dashed. They know that the process has been computerised and I am helpless, but they still blame me, he added.

In cases where computers have shown reservation for two or three categories, officers have announced it through a lottery. Mysuru Deputy Commissioner Rohini Sindhuri said they enter the reservation pattern of the panchayat for three terms into the software, which then announces the quota. She said there is no scope for error as it is cross-checked twice and the lottery is held in presence of the members.

B'luru needs more funds, FM told

THE pending amount should be released through the Union Budget, Bommai added.

He appealed to Nirmala Sitharaman to allocate more funds to Bengaluru-specific projects, like mobility, solid waste management and other critical infrastructure.

"She should consider declaring Yettinahole a national project which has been estimated at a cost of ₹12,912 crore. The Centre's focus should also be towards the development of Kalyana Karnataka, he said.

"The opinion of states should be considered while introducing Central Sponsored Schemes to avoid duplication and to lessen the burden on the states, which have to put in corresponding grants. Funds should be released under these schemes as per the plan in budget," he added.

Though the procurement of grains has been done under the MSP scheme, ₹885 crore is still pending with the Centre, which should be released at the earliest, he said.

Ram Rajya dream getting real, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Udupi

"MAHATMA Gandhi's dream of a 'Ram Rajya' is being realised with the move to construct a Ram Temple in Ayodhya," Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa said here on Monday.

Paying tribute to the Udupi Ashta Mutts after inaugurating the Vishwapatha at Krishna Temple, he said, "The fact that Sri Vishwaprasanna Thirtha, Pejawar Mutt swami, is a trustee of Sri Ram Shri Ram Janmabhoomi Teerth Kshetra, is a testimony to the standing of the Udupi Ashta Mutts. It is also a tribute to the resolve shown by Sri Vishvesha Thirtha, late seer of Pejawar mutt, in ensuring that a temple for Lord Rama is constructed at Ayodhya."

Experts bat for original Anna Bhagya

"WE are still discussing whether to charge a nominal amount for this rice or give it along with regular rice. Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa will call us for a pre-budget meeting this month and we will discuss this issue," the sources said.

"We want to first introduce fortified rice in five districts and then take it across the state," the sources added.

The Anna Bhagya scheme was launched by the then Siddaramaiah government in 2013 and the beneficiaries were initially getting dal, iodine salt and oil along with rice. But since 2015, only rice is being supplied. Experts now suggest that the original scheme be reintroduced. Food and Civil Supply Minister K Gopalaiah refused to divulge details, but said they will discuss many issues with the chief minister during the meeting.

SANKALPA SAMAVESHA

Shivakumar plays monitor in Congress classroom!

RAMKRISHNA BADSESHI @Kalaburagi

The divisional-level Sankalpa Samavesha organised by the Congress in Kalaburagi on Monday resembled a disciplined classroom with KPCC president D K Shivakumar as its monitor.

It was a different type of convention. There was nobody on the dais in the beginning. Joint chairman of Media Committee V R Sudarshan who was the master of the ceremonies invited the dignitaries sitting in the front row to come on the dais to light the lamp to mark the inauguration of the convention. Immediately after lighting the lamp, all the dignitaries except Shivakumar, got off the dais and returned to their seats.

He had a no-nonsense air about him. In the beginning itself, he instructed the leaders attending the convention to maintain discipline. There were many don'ts – don't talk on mobile or send messages, don't chat with other leaders in the hall. KPCC had even deployed staff to see if anyone was flouting discipline.

KPCC president D K Shivakumar speaks at the Sankalpa Samavesha in Kalaburagi

Then 'monitor' Shivakumar told the block presidents that they would have 3 minutes to speak and they should stop immediately after hearing the bell. They were told that they should jump straight to the problems being faced by the people of their area instead of beating about the bush, and suggest ways to resolve the issues.

"Ever since I became the president, I had started an experiment to show that all are equal in the party. In the conventions to be organised by the party, no one should sit on the dais. Each speaker will come to the dais, speak in the allotted time, get off the dais and resume his/her seat," Shivakumar said in his address.

The party will analyse the capacity of the block /district level leaders through these Sankalpa Samaveshas and will decide on whom to give tickets in the forthcoming Taluk Panchayat, ZP and MLA elections as well as the party polls. Addressing a press conference later, he appreciated the work of the block and district-level presidents.

Chief Secretary P Ravi Kumar has issued an order stating that labourers in the unorganised sector, who had contracted Covid-19, or were quarantined after their family members tested positive, must be given leave with pay

AMONG THE FIRSTS

I got the Covid vaccination today (Monday). We have nearly 1,000 healthcare staff in our hospital. We started the Covid vaccination today. Sixty people were immunised in 1 hour and no one had any problems thereafter. We will vaccinate 400 staff per day and expect to finish in three-four days. If anyone has any doubts on reactions of the vaccine, I would like to say that we have not seen any. Wish everyone a good and early vaccination. Usually, any vaccination can cause inflammatory reactions because there are bacteria and viruses going inside. This can cause mild feverishness or body pain. It will not happen to everyone, but only a few people. Such people can rest, have a Dolo or an antihistamine and it will be ok. In our immediate circle, we have not had any major reactions.

DR VIVEK JAWALI,
Cardiothoracic and Vascular Surgeon, Fortis Hospitals

This is the first fight against the Covid disease. I would like to thank the Indian government for making the vaccine available, in such a record period of time. There is a lot of debate about vaccination, but one needs to remember Covid has not gone. It can come back and if it comes back, it will be too late to again protect ourselves. After taking the vaccine, one needs to show the victory sign and put pictures everywhere so that others come forward too. All should take the vaccine. The country has enough medical staff to complete the vaccination drive in two months

DR DEVI PRASAD SHETTY,
Chairman & Executive Director, Narayana Health

I am a proud recipient of the India-made vaccine. Both the vaccines are safe. I have no doubts about their safety and efficacy. People will have to wait to get vaccinated. But the vaccine is not a licence to ignore rules of Covid-19. There will be initial problems like the CoWin app facing glitches, but I remain upbeat about the vaccination programme in India. Over 90 countries have requested vaccine supplies from India. I am grateful to the authorities for including Narayana Nethralaya in the first phase of vaccination. About 800 staff members of Rajajinagar unit will be given the vaccine this week

DR BHUJANG SHETTY,
Chairman, Narayana Nethralaya

Tests see significant drop in past week

Officials unaware of reason; experts say tests must increase as reduced numbers will lead to undetected cases

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

WITH the vaccination drive starting in the state, the number of RTPCR tests being carried out for Covid-19 has reduced significantly. While experts from the State's Covid-19 Task Force are not aware of the reason behind a drop in the number of tests, they feel that the numbers should not have declined.

According to the Health Department's bulletin, on January 13, 1,06,592 RTPCR tests were carried out, but on January 17, the number dropped to 66,442.

Meanwhile, experts say the state should increase the number of daily tests, instead of reducing them. According to them, this will lead to an increasing number of undetected cases. "We will have to continue testing well. It is very important to know how the pandemic is turning in Karnataka. Also, it will help put public health measures in place and take up measures to reduce mortality or infections in the area," explained senior epidemiologist Dr Giridhara Babu, also member of the Covid Advisory Committee.

Interestingly, the members of the task force themselves were not aware of the reduction in the testing number. While many experts on the committee refrained from speaking on record about the reduction in testing numbers, a senior doctor, who is part of the committee, said, "There was no instruction at the task committee meeting about reducing the number of tests. We have not reached there yet. We have also been told to conduct more RT-PCR tests. That has been advised by the Covid committee. I am not aware of the reason."

DROP IN NUMBERS

DATE	RAT	RTPCR
Jan 13	6,293	1,06,592
Jan 14	1,623	1,04,632
Jan 15	1,018	83,831
Jan 16	10,716	84,300
Jan 17	8,751	89,728
Jan 18	2,823	66,442

It can be seen that Rapid Antigen Tests have also been increased on some of the days. For instance, on Saturday and Sunday, the RAT have been 10,716 and 8,751, respectively.

Officials claim it could also be due to health officials getting busy with the vaccine rollout preparations, the weekend and a festival between. "It could be because there was a festival and also vaccine preparations. However, we will look into it," said a member of the Covid-19 Task Force Committee.

Vaccination drive commences at BBMP's Dasappa Hospital on Monday | SHRIRAM BN

Co-WIN glitch: Hosp postpones vax drive

RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

THOUGH the government had promised to set right technical problems with the Co-WIN portal from Monday, issues with the software continued to affect the Covid vaccination drive. In Bengaluru, the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) asked Sir CV Raman General Hospital at Indiranagar to postpone the Covishield vaccine drive to Tuesday because of problems with the portal.

"The hospital had sent a list of 200 beneficiaries to the BBMP, which had to be uploaded on to the Co-WIN portal and approval obtained. But since the software was not working, the list was not reflecting on the site. Since we did not know which beneficiaries were on the day's list, we could not carry out the drive," said a source from the hospital.

At Bangalore Medical College and Research Institute's Victoria Hospital, a list of 6,000 beneficiaries was sent to the BBMP, but as the server was slow, the hospital was not informed about the list of approved beneficiaries on the Co-WIN portal till 8.30 am on Monday.

"Ideally, the list should be approved and uploaded beforehand, so that beneficiaries get an automated message a day earlier, asking them to come for vaccination. This did not happen and neither did the OTP get generated when beneficiaries turned up with their Aadhaar cards. We checked their credentials manually and as they are our own staff, we ticked against their names on sheets of paper, stating that their vaccination was complete," said a doctor from Victoria Hospital. BBMP officials who visited the sites said the issue would be rectified. Despite glitches, Victoria Hospital carried out the drive at three session sites on the campus.

In BBMP South Zone too, many session sites faced issues with the portal. "In some places, it worked, but in other places, it did not. The server is overloaded and that's why it is slow. We are carrying out registration manually and will update details later on the Co-WIN portal, once it is running," said a health official.

Don't heed rumours, Covaxin as safe as Covishield: DyCM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

DEPUTY Chief Minister C N Ashwath Narayan has said that "Covaxin is as safe as Covishield" and those spreading rumours about the former have vested interests.

They are indulging in politics and doing it to create doubts and concern in the minds of people, Narayan, also the Higher Education, IT and BT Minister, said while inaugurating a vaccination programme at an urban primary health centre in Malleswaram on Monday.

He said, "If the vaccine was not safe, we would not have given it to people. It is being done with good intention, keeping people in mind. It is a mass mentality of people to be worried about side-effects and reactions to the vaccine. Everyone will have such doubts. They will take their own time to come forward."

Narayan also appreciated those who came forward to get vaccinated first, and said that it is the duty of the government to protect frontline workers, by immunizing them as their service to society is precious during the pandemic. However, they still have the choice to take or not take the vaccine, he added.

Primary and Secondary Education Minister S Suresh Kumar also visited private and public hospitals in Rajajinagar on Monday where the vaccination drive was taking place. This included the Manjunath Nagar and Kamakshipalya PHCs.

Give us choice of vaccine, say docs

IFFATH FATHIMA @Bengaluru

SOME doctors are apprehensive of going in for Covaxin and they have demanded that the government give them the option to take Covishield.

While Covishield is being distributed in 237 centres across districts, Covaxin is being given only in six centres in six districts. These doctors working in the six medical colleges, who have no option but to take Covaxin, have approached their respective district health centres, expressing their fears and citing safety concerns.

Ballari, Hassan, Chikkamagaluru, Shivamogga, Chamarajanagar and Davangere are the six districts where Covaxin is given in the government medical colleges --- Shivamogga Institute Of Medical Sciences (SIMS), Hassan Institute of Medical Sciences (HIMS), Vijayanagar Institute of Medical Sciences (VIMS) and Chamarajanagar Institute of Medical Sciences (CIMS).

Though Covaxin is approved by the Drug Controller General of India, some experts have raised concerns over the fact that the third phase trials are still under way.

A senior resident doctor from Hassan Institute of Medical Sciences said, "On what basis has the government decided to give Covaxin only in six government medical colleges? We do not trust the efficacy of the vaccine and do not want it. The government should give us a choice."

The doctors are also apprehensive over signing the consent form for Covaxin. They said that in the consent form, it was clearly stated that phase one and phase two of clinical trials had demonstrated results but phase 3 trials were under way and that clinical efficacy was yet to be established. So the doctors do not want to take this vaccine.

A senior doctor from Hassan Institute of Medical Sciences said, "We have been on Covid duty all these months and we are not getting the vaccination we want. This is nothing but injustice."

The Karnataka Association of Resident Doctors has written to Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar urging him to give them a choice of vaccine. They will submit the letter to him on Tuesday.

Minister Sudhakar said, "Both Covishield and Covaxin have been cleared by the DCGI. Both are reliable. The healthcare workers can take Covaxin without any apprehensions."

A LONG DAY

Doctors take a break after giving vaccine shots to frontline workers at Narayana Nethralaya in Bengaluru on Monday | SHRIRAM BN

Many health staffers give vaccine the miss

MANY healthcare and frontline workers decided to give the vaccination drive a miss with only 47 per cent of the beneficiaries turning up. It was the lowest since the vaccination drive began three days ago. The first day it was 63 per cent, and the second day 58 per cent.

On Monday, 1,017 session sites had been planned, but vaccination was carried out in only 1,000 sites. The targeted beneficiaries for the day were 81,219, however, only 38,242 turned up. Bengaluru at 228 had the highest session sites. So far, Bengaluru Urban, as compared to other districts, has the lowest coverage at only 28 per cent. In BBMP limits, 20,226 were the targeted beneficiaries, but only 8,489 turned up. The overall turnout has been 42 per cent in BBMP limits. The highest was in south zone with 2,073 of the targeted 3,625 beneficiaries getting the vaccine. Dasarahalli was the lowest with only 175 getting vaccinated.

Some hospitals continued to face issues with the Co-WIN portal.

Many well-known medical experts, like Dr Devi Prasad Shetty, Chairman of Narayana Health City, Dr Bhujang Shetty, Director of Narayan Nethralaya, and others took the vaccine. More than 250 hospital staff at Columbia Asia Hospital Hebbal and Columbia Asia Referral Hospital Yeshwanthpur received their first jab.

AIADMK- BJP ALLIANCE?

EPS holds talks with Amit Shah

He will meet PM Narendra Modi today

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Chennai

Tamil Nadu Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswami greets Union Home Minister Amit Shah in Delhi on Monday

BARELY two months after the Union Home Minister, Amit Shah's high-octane visit to Chennai, Tamil Nadu Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswami called on him in New Delhi on Monday. The two leaders are learnt to have discussed the political situations in the State.

The 45-minute meeting assumes significance after the CM had sprung a surprise during Shah's November visit by announcing that the AIADMK-BJP alliance would continue for the 2021 assembly elections.

Palaniswami was accompanied by Fisheries Minister D Jayakumar at the meeting, where Chief Secretary K Shanmugam and Chief Minister's Secretaries were also present. It could not be ascertained whether the Chief Minister had a one-on-one discussion with Shah. The CM is, however, scheduled to meet Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday at 10.30 am.

The meetings with the BJP's top brass assume significance as there are expectations of finalising the alliance between the two parties, ahead of the upcoming polls. After the joint announcement of Palaniswami and Panneerselvam on November 21 that the alliance would continue, no further progress in talks have happened between the parties.

The BJP has also been planning to schedule high profile visits to the State ahead of the elections as the party is keen to contest a good number of seats. The BJP is also particularly strategising on ways to keep the DMK at bay. While both the parties are likely to continue alliance talks in coming weeks, including the scope of other smaller parties, the CM is likely to invite Modi to visit TN at an earlier day to inaugurate a slew of projects.

Meanwhile, speaking at the AIADMK's Amma Peravai meeting on the arrangements to be made for the celebration of former CM J Jayalalithaa's birth anniversary, deputy CM and party coordinator O Panneerselvam said: "Issues are bound to happen even in families with just two or three siblings. The AIADMK has nearly 1.5 crore cadre. We have to set aside our differences and work for the party's victory in the elections." His remarks had triggered speculation about AMMK joining hands with the AIADMK ahead of the polls.

Attacks on temples: Jagan to meet home minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Vijayawada

Andhra Pradesh CM YS Jagan Mohan Reddy holds a meeting at his camp office in Tadepalli on Monday | EXPRESS

CHIEF Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy will meet Union Home Minister Amit Shah in Delhi on Tuesday. The meeting assumes significance in the wake of the attacks on temples in the State and the pontiff of Sri Pejawar Mutt, Udupi, Sri Vishwaprasanna Theertha dashing off a letter to Shah, expressing concern over the attacks on temples in Andhra Pradesh and asking the Centre to intervene in the issue.

With the Jagan-led government facing flak from Opposition TDP and BJP over the spree of attacks on temples and the letter by the Pejawar Mutt pontiff charging the Andhra Pradesh government of not taking any decisive action to prevent such attacks on temples, the CM is likely to brief the Union Home Minister about his government's steps to prevent attacks on temples and the action taken against the perpetrators of the crime. The visit to Delhi comes a day after the State BJP unit announced to take up a yatra in the State starting February 4 protesting the attacks on temples and other anti-Hindu activities going on in the state.

Sources said the BJP has discussed the issue with RSS, which was also keenly following the developments in the State with particular reference to attacks on temples, before announcing the yatra.

Tirumala temples, pathways to come under CCTV surveillance

Tirumala: To protect the temples around Tirumala and also for the safety of the pilgrims trekking the footpath route, the Tirupati police and Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams had decided to bring the area under CCTV surveillance. A group of pilgrims, on Monday, complained that some miscreants tried to snatch their valuables while they were trekking the Alipiri path.

KSOU state's sole varsity to offer ODL

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mysuru

IN the backdrop of the State government issuing a gazette notification announcing Karnataka State Open University (KSOU) as the sole university in the state to offer Open and Distance Learning (ODL), Deputy Chief Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan asked the varsity authorities to register 1 lakh new admissions by 2023.

Narayan, who is also Higher Education Minister, inaugurated the three-day induction programme virtually for the new batch of KSOU students. "I have been informed that over 17,244 students have taken admission this year. This must reach 50,000 by next year and by 2023, one lakh new admissions must be ensured," he said.

Suggesting that the varsity concentrate on brand building, he advised the management to rope in celebrities to reach out to more people aspiring for higher education. "The varsity has scope to expand its horizons beyond the State and across the globe once the National Educational Policy is implemented, as it has no boundaries," he said.

The initiative is aimed at helping students of Kannada medium who do not have access to virtual classrooms. DDPI Andanappa Vadageri said many students from the district and even neighbouring districts have subscribed to the channel and were happy that lessons were being taught in Kannada. As many as 60 teachers from government, government-aided and private schools teach students through videos. They have to go to a studio-like setup at Magavi High School in Haveri.

Nagaraj Ichhangi, a nodal officer, said all the teachers volunteered to teach.

Sasikala's kin Ilavarasi may not be freed on Jan 27

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

V K Sasikala, the jailed close associate of late Tamil Nadu chief minister J Jayalalithaa, is likely to be released from prison on January 27. Her sister-in-law and co-accused in the disproportionate assets (DA) case, J Ilavarasi, will reportedly have to spend some more days in the Bengaluru Central Prison where the duo along with Sasikala's nephew V N Sudhakaran has been lodged since February, 2017 after being convicted in the case.

According to sources, the difference in the release date of Sasikala and Ilavarasi is reportedly based on the total number of days they have spent in the prison in the DA case, which will include their prison term in 2014 in which Jayalalithaa was also lodged in judicial custody at the Bengaluru Central Prison along with Sasikala, Ilavarasi and Sudhakaran for 21 days. They were enlarged on bail on October 18, 2014.

"On calculation, Sasikala's jail term gets completed on January 27, whereas the number of days has to be counted for the other custody in the case," said the source.

Sasikala and Ilavarasi have paid the fine of Rs 10 crore each as per the court order. Sudhakaran is yet to pay the fine amount, sources added.

The Supreme Court had barred Sasikala from electoral politics for six years after her release from the prison.

HOW TO IMPROVE FOOTFALLS IN VACCINE DRIVE

The race for a Covid vaccine may have ended, but the finishing line is still a blur due to the new confusion over vial preference. A day before the state kicked off the vaccination drive, inoculating 2,684 healthcare workers on the inaugural day, the Tamil Nadu Government Doctors' Association (TNGDA), comprising 20,000 healthcare professionals, had nudged doctors to opt for the Covishield jab, saying Covaxin is still awaiting results of its Phase 3 trials. Bharat Biotech, the manufacturer of Covaxin, has, on its part, been getting people to sign on a consent form in which it has promised compensation in case of serious side effects. Chief Minister Edappadi K Palaniswamy has assured the people that the "fear will fade away gradually". The Centre has all along been insisting that both vaccines carry the same weight, but there seems to be a clear consensus on Covishield being the first among equals. Earlier Dr T S Selvavinayagam, Tamil Nadu Director of Public Health, had echoed the Centre's line when he said that no one can choose the vaccine brand.

The TNGDA took the call after uncomfortably shuffling in its seats over the vials of Covaxin, echoing a concern of the medical fraternity across the country. The association consulted three specialists because of this niggling doubt and later submitted its recommendation to the state executive committee, requesting doctors and healthcare workers to choose the "right" vaccine as they are in the high-risk category. "While our circular is advisory in nature, we do feel that it is much better to go for a vaccine whose efficacy is well-proven through a large-scale clinical trial," N Ravishankar, secretary of TNGDA, had said.

Given the unease, should the government go ahead and administer a vaccine the receiver is uncomfortable with? There is no problem with issuing advisories on public health, but one cannot dictate human psychology through force or warnings. Reassurance is a large part of treating any ailment. The pandemic has already wreaked havoc across the globe, both at the physical and mental levels. So the authorities should take into account the latter and consider giving people a choice over vaccines.

SHUTTLERS MUST PULL THEIR SOCKS UP

There's no doubt that badminton is a premier sport in our country. It has produced medals at the last two Olympics—London and Rio de Janeiro—and at the World Championships too. There are shuttlers who have occupied the number one spot. With the 2020 Tokyo Olympics postponed to this summer, India is looking at the sport with a billion hopes.

The way the first competition of the year panned out, the Indian team would love to scoff at it and march on with more focus and determination. There were issues off court when Saina Nehwal and H S Prannoy tested positive and were withdrawn at the Yonex Thailand Open, only to be reinstated after more tests. On court, there were disappointments too. P V Sindhu and Saina, who were participating in a competition for the first time since the lockdown, did not prosper. Nor did the men led by Kidambi Srikanth, who had to withdraw due to a calf muscle strain in the second round. Others perished too. Fitness seems to be an issue. So does lack of match practice and form, which has been a thorn for some time now. But what would bother the team most is the performance of other nations and that the field was depleted after Japan and China pulled out. The Olympic qualification is set to begin next month and will end with the India Open (May 11-16). The qualification will be determined from the Race to Tokyo Rankings published on 18 May 2021. As of now, only four—P V Sindhu, B Sai Praneeth and the doubles men's pair of Satwiksairaj Rankireddy-Chirag Shetty—are eligible for the Olympics. There were seven in the Rio one and five in London.

Former World No. 1 Srikanth and London Olympic bronze medallist Saina have to face daunting challenges. They have to reach the quarters and semifinals in at least two-three qualifiers to get a chance. If they fall short, it will be a blot on the sport. There is no dearth of support from the sports ministry and the Badminton Association of India. From foreign coaches and support staff to training at academies of their choices, they have it all. Then to be elite, performance is the scale where it will be measured. It's a simple case of now or never.

Our country is less rural now than it has ever been. Is that really the trajectory to take? How do we make the rural milieu more attractive?

THE DECLINE OF RURAL CAN BE STOPPED

HARISH BIJOOR

Brand Guru & Founder, Harish Bijoor Consults

AMIT BANDRE

India is less rural today than it ever was. At the first post-independence Census in 1951, the country was represented by a population where 82.7% of people lived and earned their livelihoods in rural areas. Today, that number is 69.1% and it is likely to decrease in the next decennial Census of India due this year.

Rural is therefore a concept that is on the decline. There are two movements out here. Urbanisation, which is on the move on a speedy horse, and ruralisation, which is on a complete decline. In many ways, the second is not a vector movement of any significance as yet. In the bargain, rural is a definition that progressively seems to come with an eventual expiry date.

And that indeed is a matter of worry. It is a point to discuss and deliberate in a bid to wake up our mindsets, and indeed our conscience. Must India be less rural than it is today? Is that really the trajectory to take? Or must India preserve its rural heritage and difference (whatever is left of it), even as it clambers on to the more exciting journey by default of acute and complete urbanisation?

The starting point in this discussion would be the very definition of rural. What is rural? Is rural a geography, distanced from the allure of the big city and its goodies? There are many definitions out there. And many, strangely, are really deprivation-oriented. Rural has progressively been defined in urban whispers as a physical geography that is distanced. A geography with a lack of access to education, health, roads, electricity, entertainment options and of course, the life-giving internet.

Add to this cocktail of deprivation a garnish of the real. Rural folk are looking for jobs. Ganesh Rathnam in Guntur is as aspirational as anyone in Hyderabad. He refuses to accept a job locked in by geography of deprivation and circumstance. Yes, his education has been a village one, his degree is one obtained at the district HQ, and his English is not as savvy as the one spoken by the Hyderabad Public School educated. But his aspiration is no different. He does not want a job in the struggling agricultural sector. Geography is not a constraint for him. He will take up a job at Accenture in Hyderabad. He will join the ranks of the aspirational first-generation city man. And this represents the tragedy of the exodus of the young from rural areas in India.

Agriculture then does not hold the young and the educated back. It does not hold back the young and uneducated as well. The menfolk who see not much of a future in agricultural jobs with splintered land holdings don't want to till the land. They would rather work as drivers and helpers in the big city nearby. The young woman has left for a city job. Agriculture is therefore left to the older womenfolk in the house for now. The feminisation of agriculture is thus becoming a reality in India, as is the ageing profile of the Indian farmer. The young have fled, or want to flee, in search of greener pastures, greener than their green farms.

The future ahead: In the current era we live in, a hopeful and hopefully post-pandemic world, I am excited about the options that pan out ahead of us for rural India. Without making a comment on the farm law reforms on the plate, I see both the macro and micro trends ahead exciting for this milieu of rural we have taken for granted for far too long. I do believe the decline of rural can and will be stopped. Let's see the trends and possibilities floating around.

> Rural jobs are not agricultural jobs only. Apart from the jobs in the services sector of the government, banks and institutions of every kind, it is time to focus on the jobs in the agri-manufacturing, processing and services sectors

Rural jobs are not really agricultural jobs only. Apart from the jobs in the services sector of the government, banks and institutions of every kind, it is time to focus on the jobs in the agri-manufacturing and services sectors. As more and more players look at agriculture through the lenses of mechanisation and automation of tasks, and as more of AI and ML uses rural terrains for IoT devices in the agricultural chain, the physical manufacturing of these implements and devices must not happen in China, or even in the bigger cities of India for that matter. These must happen in the hinterland that is rural. There is an eminent degree of sense, both financial and human-ethical, in doing this. The pandemic will push manufacturing facilities to lower-cost locales and rural offers just that for now.

Rural jobs therefore need to come from the agricultural segment, the agri-manufacturing and services category and also from non-agriculture related manufacturing and services. Only then will every rural milieu look like the urban and offer enough attraction for the retention of the most productive resources in the most needy geography. The new language ahead should therefore focus on the creation of the all-new rural agglomeration instead of loading the already overloaded city. Demagnetisation of the city is the task ahead, just as we micro-magnetise our rural areas.

The tools at hand are many: a facilitating environment that breaks existing nexuses and the status quo; the local political and real need to energise what will otherwise start looking like ghost villages; the ability of new technology to send shivers up our urban and rural spines in terms of possibilities with AI and cognitive IoT for agriculture; the ability to automate and correct our "low-yield" and "monsoon-dependant" negative labels of yore; and most importantly, the hunger to correct our rural-urban imbalances in terms of needs, wants and greed.

THE ECONOMIC VALUE OF A HOMEMAKER'S CONTRIBUTION

KAVYA LALCHANDANI

Legal scholar based out of Delhi

Traditionally in Indian society, the contributions of homemakers towards the development of their houses and the economy have been undermined and often not recognised at all. Many in this patriarchal setup claim that women 'fit' the role of a homemaker and hence it is not important to recognise their contributions. However, times have changed and different legislations and judgments have been passed in favour of recognising people of different sexes as equals. But what was not recognised was the contribution made by different people in different ways on both the micro- and macro-economic scale.

Interestingly, it took a completely unrelated statute to understand a homemaker's contribution to society, at least economically. This is not the first case where such income is determined on a notional basis but a thorough analysis with reasons in the instant judgment warrants commendation. Recently, the Supreme Court of India in Kirti and Anr. v. Oriental Insurance Company has recognised the value of calculating the notional income of a homemaker while awarding compensation under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988. There are different factors that are taken into account while fixing the compensation, such as the age and income of the deceased, the number of surviving dependents, the future prospects of earning and the like. The deceased couple in the instant case were survived by three dependents. While fixing the compensation, the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal had awarded a compensation of ₹46 lakh, which was challenged in the Delhi High Court, wherein the compensation was reduced by approximately 50% and it was fixed at ₹22 lakh. This verdict was then challenged in the Supreme Court.

It has been held by the courts time and again that the compensation awarded always has to be just, fair and reasonable and should be governed by the principles of equity, and that the standard of living of the family should be taken into account. The court unanimously applied these principles and applied the reasoning in National Insurance Company Limited v. Pranay Sethi in adding 40% of the income over future prospects as both deceased were below 40 years of age.

Justice N V Ramana in a separate concurrent judgment pronounced a well-reasoned verdict on the question of notional income of the housewife and calculation of future prospects. No doubt, it is a difficult task to arrive at a just compensation based on the notional income. However the court is faced with such tasks, especially in cases where the victim is understood as non-earning. For instance, in M R Krishna Murthi v. New India Assurance Co. Ltd., the court took into account the academic proficiency, course being studied and family background when fixing the notional income of a student.

> It took a completely unrelated statute to understand a homemaker's contribution to society, at least economically. Recently, the Supreme Court has recognised the value of calculating the notional income of a homemaker while awarding compensation under the Motor Vehicles Act, 1988. While this is not new, the thorough analysis is praiseworthy

Previously, in Arun Kumar Agrawal v. National Insurance Co. Ltd., it has been held that "in India the courts have recognised that the contribution made by the wife to the house is invaluable and cannot be computed in terms of money. The gratuitous services rendered by the wife with true love and affection to the children and her husband and managing the household affairs cannot be equated with the services rendered by others. ... It is not possible to quantify any amount in lieu of the services rendered by the wife/mother to the family i.e. the husband and children. However, for the purpose of award of compensation to the dependants, some pecuniary estimate has to be made of the services of the housewife/mother."

The statistical analysis in the present judgment reveals that the majority of the women spend a major portion of their time doing unpaid household work and the verdict also brings out the gender disparity in the same. The judge categorically notes that the notion that housemakers do not 'work' needs to be overcome as it is a problematic idea. The United Nations Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women vide General Recommendation No. 17 has affirmed that the "measurement and quantification of the unremunerated domestic activities of women, which contribute to development in each country, will help to reveal the de facto economic role of women".

The most pertinent observation is in relation to the fact of 'acceptance' of such work. This will result in a broader change in attitudes of people in order to ingrain what is actually meant by social equality, which forms an important feature of a civilised society with a constitutional framework in place. Of course, the amount of compensation based on notional income varies from case to case and there can be no formula for the same. But recognising the efforts not only within the household but on a broader level of contribution towards the GDP is a step in the right direction.

Mild side effects common

After months of struggle, the Covid-19 vaccines have arrived and are now being administered for frontline workers. This is a good development and a great way to start 2021. Mild side effects are common and no one should make a big issue out of it. Ultimately, the purpose should be served.

K Ragavan, Bengaluru

Developing immunity

When the BCG and smallpox vaccines are administered, they cause fever, headache and fatigue to many infants and adults even today. The same seems to be happening with the Covid vaccine as well. This can be taken as a sign that immunity is being developed in the body. The individual should be just fine in a couple of days.

Against national spirit

No Indian has the right or freedom to disrupt national celebrations for any reason. A hindrance to the Republic Day celebrations is a clear violation that will attract penal attention. The proposed tractor rally by farmers on this day is a misguided adventure against the national spirit.

M R Nair, Nileshwar

Just a law and order issue

The Supreme Court has understandably refused to pass an order on the proposed tractor rally. It has said that it is the duty of the police to maintain law and order. By referring the matter to the apex court, the Centre tried to abdicate itself of the responsibility. Instead, it must tackle the issue as any other law and order problem by following standard procedure.

Sharing Palk Bay waters

This is with reference to Resolving the fishing dispute in Palk Bay (Jan 18). The DMK and AIADMK must stop accusing each other of not looking after the interests of Tamil Nadu fishermen. The idea that both groups can fish for three days each and share nature's wealth is practical and possible. The governments must implement this idea immediately.

Who will bell the cat?

The author's profound solutions on the problems of fishermen of both countries are quite simple and practical, but the question is, which country will bell the cat? Such sensitive issues require a visionary and committed leadership on both sides.

Why give false promises?

This is with reference to High on populism, low on economic sense (Jan 18). One does not need to be an economist to understand the political mileage the finance minister hoped to get when he presented the Budget this year. It is known that what he promised will not become a reality in the four months left for the government. Then why must he give false promises?

How can govt justify this?

It is astonishing that the Kerala Infrastructure Investment Fund Board (KIIFB) has taken loans from abroad without proper permission. The CAG report shows that the state clearly violated the Constitution. How can the finance minister justify this?

Newcomers did well

Close on the heels of the performance of R Ashwin and Hanuma Vihari in the Sydney Test, the Indian cricket team's Shardul Thakur and Washington Sundar not only frustrated Australian bowlers but also surpassed former skipper Kapil Dev and all-rounder Manoj Prabhakar's record for the highest seventh wicket stand in Australia after 30 years. They should be a part of the team's plans in the future.

The commissioning of the floating solar panels in the Kochi airport is great news. Such initiatives have the potential to raise the stature of Kerala. Sustainability being the need of the hour, such clean energy generation can be a game changer.

10th round of govt-farmers talks deferred

Meeting to be held on Wednesday; Tomar says new farm laws a brave step by PM Modi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi/Chandigarh

THE 10th round of Centre-farmer talks on the contentious three new acts was postponed for a day and will now take place in New Delhi on Wednesday.

"The government's ministerial meeting with farmers unions will be held on January 20 at 2 pm at Vigyan Bhawan, instead of January 19," the Agriculture Ministry said in a short statement on Monday night, citing inevitable reasons for the change in date.

Confirming this development, a farmer leader of Samyukt Kisan Morcha said that the agriculture ministry had scheduled the talks on January 20. As of now nine rounds of talks taken place between 40 farmer leaders of the Morcha and three union ministers — Agriculture Minister Narendra Tomar besides union railway minister Piyush Goyal and union minister of state for commerce and industry Som Parkash — apart from an informal meeting of a few farmer leaders with Home Minister Amit Shah. But all these rounds of talks have failed to end the deadlock, as farmer union leaders are stuck to their main demand for repealing the three laws and the government refusing to do so.

Earlier in the day, Tomar again reached out the farmers saying that the three laws were a brave step taken by Prime Minister Narendra Modi after years of deliberation. "The previous governments could not introduce these reforms because of pressure tactics. Some people are spreading misinformation that the MSP is being discontinued. We have reassured multiples times that this won't happen. The centre has even said it will increase procurement through MSP," he said.

His statement is being seen as a reiteration of the Modi government's stand that the new farm laws would not be repealed, while the farmers' unions, have stuck to their main demand of revoking them.

NGO gets Nobel nomination

Chandigarh: Even as the NIA summoned the members of UK-based Khalsa Aid in connection with its alleged links to banned group Sikhs for Justice, three Canadian politicians have nominated the NGO for Nobel Peace Prize citing its humanitarian works. The NGO has been providing relief material to the farmers at Tikri and Singhu borders.

Cong, Akali Dal flay NIA notices

Chandigarh: Leaders in Punjab have condemned the issuance of notices to farmer leaders by the NIA. While CM Amarinder Singh said such "arm-twisting tactics" would not weaken the resolve of farmers, SAD chief Sukhbir Singh Badal said the Centre doesn't realise that the agitation is "only getting stronger due to its repressive steps".

Union distances self from all-party meet

Chandigarh: Distancing itself from the all-party meeting to be attended by BKU chief Gurnam Singh Chaduni in Delhi, the Sanyukt Kisan Morcha (SKM) on Monday said it was not associated with the meeting proposed on January 22 and 23. "The SKM has formed a panel to enquire into the matter and give its report within three days. We will take further steps after that," it said.

Delhi Police free to invoke powers: SC on tractor march's entry

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Monday said the entry of farmers into Delhi is a law and order problem and any decision in this regard should be taken by the Delhi Police alone.

The observation came by a three-judge bench headed by Chief Justice of India S A Bobde while hearing an application filed by the Delhi Police to direct farmers not to disrupt the Republic Day celebrations in the capital on January 26.

Before adjourning the case, the CJI said: "The question of the entry (of farmers) into Delhi is a law and order problem. You (Delhi Police) are free to invoke your powers. We have told you earlier too that we cannot be the first authority to determine this. You have enough power under the Police Act to determine who should or should not be allowed entry, what terms and conditions are to be enforced and what should be the numbers."

"The intervention by this court has been grossly misunderstood. We have not taken charge of the entire issue except one. Should the Supreme Court tell the police that you have enough powers under the Police Act," said the bench on Monday.

The matter will now be heard on January 20, when the bench dealing with petitions against the farmer protests will be available.

On January 12, the court had stayed the implementation of the three farm laws under challenge and formed a four-member expert committee to study the concerns raised by the farmer unions and submit its recommendations to the court in eight weeks.

Farmers have constitutional right to take out rally: Unions

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

PROTESTING union leaders on Monday said farmers have a constitutional right to take out their tractor rally peacefully and asserted that thousands of people will participate in the proposed event on January 26.

BKU (Ekta Ugrahan) president Joginder Singh Ugrahan said if the Delhi Police has a problem over thee law and order situation on Republic Day, it can hold a meeting with the Sankyukt Kisan Morcha and suggest alternative routes for the tractor parade.

"Thereafter, our farmers' committee will decide accordingly. But, it is very clear that the tractor march will be taken out in the national capital on January 26."

BKU Punjab, (Lakhowal Group) general secretary Harinder Singh Lakhowal said: "We will take out the rally peacefully. We will exercise our constitutional right and we will definitely enter Delhi."

Meanwhile, the farmers on Monday observed 'Mahila Kisan Divas' in more than three hundred districts of the country in recognition of the contribution of women in 75 per cent of all agricultural work, including sowing, transplanting, irrigation, weeding, harvesting, transporting, sorting, packing and in animal labour involved in rearing including provision of fodder, grazing, milking, cleaning, manufacture of dung cakes and processing of milk.

At various places in Punjab and Haryana, women speakers managed the stage and the protest site. Thousands of farmers, especially from Punjab, Haryana and parts of UP, are protesting for nearly two-months at various Delhi borders against the three farm laws.

Over 3.81L receive Covid jabs, 580 adverse events reported

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

A total of 3,81,305 beneficiaries have so far been vaccinated for Covid-19 and 580 adverse events following immunisation were reported in the first three days of the inoculation drive in the country, the Union Health Ministry said on Monday.

It also said of the two deaths reported, the death of 52-year-old Mahipal Singh from Moradabad in UP (who was vaccinated on January 16 and died on the evening of January 17) was not related to vaccination as per the post mortem report.

"The postmortem report by a board of three doctors revealed death due to reveals the immediate cause of death as a cardiopulmonary disease (pockets of pus in lungs, enlarged heart)-not related to vaccination," Manohar Agnani, additional secretary in the health ministry, said at a press briefing.

Agnani said 1,48,266 beneficiaries were vaccinated across 25 states and Union Territories till 5 pm on Monday.

The second person to die was a 43-year-old man in Karnataka's Bellary. The government said "the cause of death anterior wall infarction with cardio-pulmonary failure". The postmortem is yet to be done, it said.

Of the 1,48,266 beneficiaries who were administered the vaccine on Monday, 8,656 were from Bihar, 1,822 from Assam, 36,888 from Karnataka, 7,070 from Kerala, 6,665 from MP, 7,628 from Tamil Nadu, 10,352 from Telangana, 11,588 from West Bengal and 3111 were from Delhi.

Agnani said seven hospitalisations have so far been reported in the country since the nationwide drive began on January 16.

In Delhi, three hospitalisations were reported, out of which, two have been discharged, and one with fainting is under observation at Max Hospital in Patparganj.

In Uttarakhand, one of the beneficiaries is stable and under observation at AIIMS Rishikesh, the official stated. In Chhattisgarh, one beneficiary is under observation, while in Karnataka, two cases of hospitalizations were reported, he said.

"No case of serious/severe AEFI attributable to vaccination till date," he added.

Govt committed to safeguard borders, says MEA

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi, Guwahati

REACTING to a report on China building a village within the Indian territory in Arunachal Pradesh, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) on Monday said the government is keeping a watch on all the developments that have a bearing on country's security and territorial integrity. However, the district magistrate (DM) of Upper Subansiri, where the alleged encroachment has taken place, expressed ignorance of the issue.

"I just heard it. I am in the district but there is no such information from any source or villagers. The district administration has not received any such report," DM Kanto Danggen said adding "the district is vast and remote. In many areas along the border, there is hardly any population."

Meanwhile, an MEA official said they have taken note of recent reports on China undertaking construction works along the border areas with India. "In response, our government too has strengthened the border infrastructure on our side," the official said.

The MLA from the region, Ninong Ering, said, "It is difficult to ascertain but China is building infrastructure along the whole Arunachal border."

Incidently, Chief Minister Pema Khandu, who had been in his home district of Tawang for past three days on an official trip, left for Delhi on Monday. It was not immediately known if the visit was prescheduled. "I don't know if it was prescheduled. He just went off," a source in the Chief Minister's Office said.

The report of Chinese encroachment comes days after a US declassified document claimed that India has the capacity to counter Chinese provocations. "India remains preeminent in South Asia and takes the leading role in maintaining Indian Ocean security, increases engagement with Southeast Asia, and expands its economic, defence, and diplomatic cooperation with other US allies and partners in the region," the document stated.

'China has undertaken such activity in past too'

An MEA official said China has undertaken such construction activity in the past several years. "The government takes all necessary measures to safeguard the country's sovereignty and territorial integrity."

Delhi court to take up plaint against web series on Jan 23

A statement from the cast and crew said Tandav is a work of fiction and they did not have any intention to offend any individual, caste, community, race, religion or religious beliefs or insult or outrage any institution, political party or person, living or dead. "The cast and crew of Tandav take cognizance of the concerns expressed by the people and unconditionally apologize if it has unintentionally hurt anybody's sentiments," said the statement. Amazon Prime refused to comment on the controversy.

A Delhi court will take up on Jan 23 a complaint filed before it by Vishnu Gupta, the founder of Hindu Sena, seeking action against Amazon Prime and the makers of the series. In Mumbai, Maharashtra BJP MLA Ram Kadam alleged in his complaint that the series has "insulted Hindu gods and goddesses" while referring to a particular scene.

NBA seeks Republic TV's suspension from Indian Broadcasting Foundation

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

EXPRESSING shock on the alleged WhatsApp exchange between BARC's former CEO Partho Dasgupta and senior journalist Arnab Goswami, the News Broadcasters Association demanded that Republic TV be suspended from the Indian Broadcasting Foundation (IBF) with immediate effect till the case of alleged manipulation of ratings remains pending in court.

The purported exchange "established" collusion between the two in manipulating ratings for garnering more viewership for months by "fraudulently manually reducing ratings" of other channels to give "undue advantage" to the news channel, the Association said.

"These WhatsApp messages not only reflect manipulation of ratings but is also about power play. The messages exchanged go on to refer to the appointment of secretaries, Cabinet reshuffle, access to the PMO and the workings of the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting," the NBA said in a statement.

This alleged incident, the Association said, confirmed its allegations on ratings being manipulated by non-NBA members along with BARC's top officials. "NBA Board is also of the view that the manipulation of ratings by Republic TV has immensely damaged the reputation of the broadcast industry and therefore it should be kept out of BARC rating system till final court order."

Claiming that BARC ratings showed that there were no checks and balances, the NBA sought action against the "actors" who were responsible for tarnishing the BARC's credibility and was a threat to the credibility of the news broadcast business. ENS

First woman fighter pilot to debut in this R-Day parade

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

THE country's first woman fighter pilot, Flt Lt Bhawana Kanth, will be debuting in this Republic Day Parade. The Rafale fighter jets will also be participating in the parade flypast.

Bhawana said it is a matter of pride for her. "I have been watching the Republic Day Parade on TV and now becoming a part of it on Rajpath is a matter of pride for me, she said.

She was part of the first batch of three women fighter pilots of the Indian Air Force that joined in 2016.

Bhawana is from Bihar and joined the fighter squadron in November 2017, becoming operational in March 2018 after her solo flying in MiG 21 Bison. She wishes to fly every IAF fighter. Two Rafale fighters will be participating in the flypast for the first time. Rafales, one each, will be flying in Eklavya and Brahmastra formation. In Eklavya formation, it will be flanked by two Jaguars and two MiG 29s.

Rafale multirole fighters were officially inducted into the IAF in September last year and 8 of them have since joined the force. They are a part of 36 aircraft purchased from France at a cost of Rs 59,000 cr in 2016. All Rafale fighters will join the IAF by 2022.

As many as 42 aircraft (IAF and Army) will be participating in the Republic Day flypast. There will be 15 fighters, 5 transport aircraft, 17 helicopters, one vintage and four Army Aviation helicopters. The flypast will culminate with Rafale fighters flying Victor Charlie (Vic) formation. A Bangladesh Army Contingent is also participating in the parade as a special invitee to commemorate the Golden Jubilee of 1971 war.

The Air Force marching contingent of 100 personnel will be led by Flt Lt Tanik Sharma.

The IAF tableaux will display the model of LCA Tejas, Light Combat Helicopter, Rohini radar, Akash missile and front-line fighter Sukhoi 30MKI.

Won't hand over bodies of 3 youth killed in Srinagar encounter: IGP

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Jammu and Kashmir police on Monday ruled out the possibility of handing over bodies of the three youth killed in the December 30 encounter at Lawaypora to their families. The police maintained that the trio was involved in militancy, and the evidence establishing their role would be shared with the families.

Talking to reporters, Inspector General of Police (IGP), Kashmir, Vijay Kumar said the three youth killed in Lawypora encounter on the outskirts of Srinagar were involved in militancy. Security forces had killed Athar Mushtaq (16), Aijaz Ahmad Ganai, and Zubair Ahmad Lone during a two-day gunfight on December 30. However, their families decried the security forces' claims.

"We have evidence that they were involved in militancy. They were providing logistic support to militants. We have collected 60 per cent evidence so far. Once 100 per cent evidence is collected, we will share it with their families. We will try to show them about how and where their wards were involved," Kumar said.

Taling on the demand of the families that bodies of the youth should be handed over to them for proper burial, IGP said, "There is no question of handing over bodies to the families."

"The burial took place in front of the family members. The parents, family members, police, and magistrate were present," he said. The bodies were buried in a graveyard in Sonamarg in central Kashmir.

Have evidence of youth's militancy link, says top cop

"We have evidence that they were involved in militancy. They were providing logistic support to militants. Once 100 per cent evidence is collected, we will share it with their families," the IGP said

After the outbreak of Covid-19 pandemic in March last year, police have not been handing over bodies of local militants to their families.

Stating that the Covid problem is still persisting in the region, the IGP said, "We all know that in case of a civilian death, certain protocol is followed at their burial. If we give bodies of killed militants to their families, people may turn emotional and participate in thousands, and violate the protocol. It will become difficult to stop them and we will have to use force," he said. "For the larger interest, we are not handing over bodies of militants to their families," added the IGP.

Sena leads pack as Aghadi wins local body polls

BJP bags 1,563 seats out of 11,795 whose results were out; contest for 14,234 seats

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

The ruling Maha Vikas Aghadi emerged as the winner in the local body polls by bagging 6,799 grama panchayats out of the 11,795 whose results were declared on Monday. The race is for 14,234 gram panchayats, 2,000 of which have elected their heads unopposed.

Shiv Sena leads the race with 2,576 seats, closely followed by BJP with 1,563. The other constituents of the MVA – NCP (2,400) and Congress (1,823) – accounted for 4,223 seats. Raj Thackeray-led MNS could muster only 36 seats, while independent candidates bagged 2,337 seats.

Many BJP stalwarts, including former BJP minister Ram Shinde, Maharashtra BJP state president Chandrakant Patil, BJP Rajya Sabha MP Udayan Raje Bhosale, saw their villages fall into the rival camp, prompting a jibe from Home Minister and senior NCP leader Anil Deshmukh that the saffron party would do well to perform as a good opposition.

Deshmukh said the trend was in Aghadi's favour. "People voted for our government. They are happy with our policies. We will continue under the banner of Maha Vikas Aghadi," Deshmukh said.

Referring to the recent graduate and teacher legislative council elections, Deshmukh said that the Aghadi had won five out of the total six seats. "The trend in Maharashtra shows that the people here have rejected the BJP. Now, BJP should not dream of coming back to power," Deshmukh added.

Single largest party

Referring to the BJP's landslide victory in the Konkan region, BJP MLA Devendra Fadnavis exuded confidence that his party would emerge as the single largest party

Maharashtra Congress president Balasaheb Thorat hailed the victory of the Aghadi and pointed out that Congress, too, had performed well. "We are hopeful winning more seats as people have reposed their trust in us. BJP needs to introspect. It should stop raising non-issues like Arnab Goswami and espouse the issues of farmers," Thorat said.

However, former chief minister and BJP MLA Devendra Fadnavis exuded confidence that his party would emerge as the single largest party after the counting. Referring to BJP's landslide victory in the Konkan region, he said, "Sena should introspect and work for the people. BJP will emerge the largest party."

Shahnawaz's MLC seat part of BJP's minority outreach plan in Bihar

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Patna

ACCOMPANIED by Chief Minister Nitish Kumar and flanked by senior NDA leaders, Syed Shahnawaz Hussain filed his nomination papers for the MLC seat vacated by former deputy chief minister Sushil Modi on Monday. BJP circles were abuzz with speculation that after his election, Hussain would be given a prominent portfolio during the cabinet expansion.

The much talked about Tuesday's cabinet expansion was postponed, with Nitish Kumar not revealing the revised date.

While Hussain told media that he would discharge any responsibility assigned to him, BJP sources said that his nomination was part of BJP's plan to gain a foothold in the minority-dominated Seemanchal, the region from where AIMIM had won five seats in the last polls.

A two-time MP and a former Union minister, Shahnawaz Hussain is being introduced to the Bihar polity to counter RJD's traditional MY (Muslim-Yadav) equation, said sources. Further, Hussain's acceptance among both the Hindu and Muslim communities is going to be an added advantage for him, sources said.

Saffron party eying Seemanchal region

While Hussain told media that he would discharge any responsibility, BJP sources said that his nomination was part of BJP's plan to gain a foothold in Seemanchal, the region from where AIMIM had won five seats

Moreover, giving a cabinet berth to Hussain would counter the opposition propaganda that BJP is an anti-Muslim party. "This will counter any AIMIM influence in the region," says political analyst Dr RK Verma.

Hussain first reached Parliament from Kishanganj, which is a minority-dominated area in Seemanchal. Later, he won from Bhagalpur, another Muslim dominated seat.

He has now been nominated to the Legislative Council seat vacated by former Deputy Chief Minister Sushil Kumar Modi.

Hussain had unsuccessfully contested from Bhagalpur in 2014. He had lost to a JD(U) candidate. He was not given ticket to contest in the last general election

BJP Bengal leaders rush to Matua stronghold ahead of Shah's visit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kolkata

BJP national general secretary and West Bengal observer Kailash Vijayvargiya and party's national vice-president Mukul Roy on Monday visited the Matua community stronghold of Thakurnagar in North 24 Parganas, ahead of Union Home Minister Amit Shah's scheduled visit on January 30.

Shah is likely to address the Matuas, a community of Hindu refugees from Bangladesh, on the issue of implementing the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) — a promise that the saffron party had given to woo the Matuas during 2019 Lok Sabha elections. "It is yet to be decided whether Shah's rally will be organised under the banner of the party or the Matuas. Earlier, Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to this area was organised under the banner of Matuas but the BJP leadership was behind it," said Roy.

Shah's upcoming visit is said to be in wake of the discontent expressed by the local BJP MP, Shantanu Thakur. Thakur had, on several occasions, said the Matuas wanted Shah to address the issue with a deadline for giving them citizenship. He also said the political alignment of Matuas in the upcoming Assembly elections would not be known if the CAA is not implemented before the polls.

The Matuas are a deciding factor in at least 55 Assembly seats and the electorate belonging to the community voted en bloc for the BJP after it promised citizenship for them.

Call for censor board for OTT grows louder

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bhopal/Dehradun

PROTESTS were reported on Monday from various states, including the BJP-ruled Madhya Pradesh, Uttarakhand and Uttar Pradesh, against the alleged depiction of Hindu deities in web series Tandav.

On Monday, Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan met I&B minister Prakash Javadekar in Delhi and raised objections against the political drama.

"No one has the right to hurt our faith and insult our deities. The obscenity being shown on OTT platforms is not good for our teenagers, so there is a need to closely monitor these platforms," Chouhan said.

In MP's largest city Indore, the BJP's Scheduled Caste cell workers protested, burning posters of the Tandav web series and demanding a ban on the series for hurting the religious sentiments of Hindus and Dalits. Similarly, Bhopal saw a right-wing Hindu outfit come out with similar protests.

Apart from Chouhan himself, MP medical education minister Vishvas Sarang wrote to Javadekar in the matter demanding action against the web series. In the letter, the MP minister also sought a statutory mechanism like the censor board to regulate web series. The protest was not restricted to fringe outfits the Akhil Bhartiya Akhada Parishad, the apex body of all the Akhadas, also condemned the web series.

"If the web series is not taken down soon, our Naga Sadhus will march to Mumbai and teach the produces a lesson of lifetime," Parishad president Mahant Narendra Giri told the media in Haridwar.

EDITORS OF WEB PORTAL RELEASED

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

TWO editors of a Manipur web portal were released a day after they were detained in connection with an opinion piece Revolutionary Journey in a Mess published on January 8.

The release of Frontier Manipur's editor-in-chief Dhiren Sadokpam and executive editor Paojel Chaoba followed a meeting that Chief Minister N Biren Singh had with a delegation of All Manipur Working Journalists' Union (AMWJU) and Editors' Guild Manipur.

The FIR states: "The author (M Joy Luwang) openly endorsed revolutionary ideologies and activities and expressed shock and dismay at the deteriorating character of the armed revolutionary leaders of Manipur in the recent decade".

On Sunday, a case under the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA) and Section 124A (sedition) of the IPC was registered by the police against the two senior journalists. None of them was produced in a court.

GUILD CONDEMNS ARREST OF JOURNOS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Editors Guild of India (EGI) condemned the recent arrest of a writer and two editors of Manipur website The Frontier Manipur on Monday. In a statement, the guild said it considered the arrest as a brazen violation of every constitutional safeguard given for freedom of expression.

The guild demanded the immediate release of the editors and withdrawal of the cases citing they posed 'a threat to free expression and to democracy itself'. This was not the first time that administration had used the draconian laws of sedition and Unlawful Activities Prevention Act (UAPA) against editors and journalists, the guild pointed out. "What's worrying and shocking is that the Manipur police has arrested the editor in chief Sadokpam Diren, executive editor Paojel Chaoba and the writer of the reportedly offending article M Joy Luwang under this draconian anti-terror laws for their analysis of the politics of Manipur state," said the guild.

MP registers first case under its love jihad law

Bhopal: Madhya Pradesh reported the first case under its new anti 'love jihad' law with the accused, a 25-year-old married man, being arrested on Monday.The accused Sohail Mansoori alias Sunny, a truck driver and also part-time DJ player, was arrested a day following the complaint lodged by a 22-year-old girl on Sunday in Barwani district.Apart from the provisions of the MP Dharma Swatantrya Adhyadesh 2020, Mansoori faces charges of rape, assault, criminal intimidation under the IPC. After being lodged at the Barwani Kotwali police station, the case was transferred to Pulsood police station for further probe, inspector in-charge of Barwani Kotwali Rajesh Yadav said on Monday. According to the police, the accused was arrested on Monday evening.

Media trial in Rajput case contemptuous: Bombay HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

THE Bombay High Court on Monday held the media trial by Republic TV and Times Now against Mumbai Police in the case pertaining to the death of actor Sushant Singh Rajput was prima facie contemptuous.

"Criticism of city police by TV media was unfair, in view of the material placed on record. The city police was at the very basic stage of probe," the court said.

A division bench comprising Chief Justice Dipankar Dutta and Justice G S Kulkarni observed that the media ought to avoid discussions and debates relating to criminal investigations and said they should confine themselves to informative reports in such matters in public interest.

During the hearing of the matter over last six months, the high court had expressed concerns over media trial. It asked the media not to cross boundaries, and indicated that it will lay down guidelines. The court said trial by media interferes with the criminal investigation and runs counter to the code framed under the Cable TV Act.

The bench said the media should observe restraint in discussions about ongoing investigations so as not to prejudice the rights of the accused and witness.

Calling for sensitivity in suicide reportage, the bench also advised against character assassination of the victim.

Bihar's inaugural bird festival Kalrav launched

The inaugural edition of Kalarav (cacophony) bird festival was launched by CM Nitish Kumar at Nagi-Nakti bird sanctuary on Saturday. The fest aims at raising awareness on birds, especially migratory. Spread over 2.1 sq km area in the lap of rocky hillocks, the Nagi bird sanctuary is the winter home for more than 133 bird species every year. Nitish said the bird festival will be a treat for the ornithologists here. Kumar also inaugurated a Bird Awareness Centre (BAC) with a photo gallery on various bird species.

Bid to smuggle 2K tortoises to Bhutan, China foiled

As many as 1,946 tortoises belonging to an endangered species were recently seized in Gopalganj district while they were being smuggled from Lucknow to Bhutan via Kolkata by a truck. The estimated value of these tortoises in international market is said to be ₹1 crore. Naresh Paswan, sub-divisional police officer of Gopalganj, told media that two people, identified as Vidhan Bairagi and Ranjit Kumar, both residents of West Bengal's 24-Pargana district, were arrested. He said of the seized 1,946 tortoises, 261 were dead. Police said the reptiles were being smuggled from India to Bhutan and China, where the meat and other body parts of tortoises are used in making medicines.

Free food for patients from Didi ki Rasoi

Didi ki Rasoi will dish out piping hot, hygienic food free to all patients at government-run hospitals. Touted as a pioneer scheme, thousands of Jeevika Didis associated with SHGs will be roped in to cook and provide hygienic food free to patients at district and sub-divisional hospitals. The attenders will get the food at a concessional rate. The scheme was approved by the chief minister during a cabinet meeting. There are 1.2 crore women associated with 10 lakh SHGs in Bihar. Didi Ki Rasoi was first introduced as a pilot project at Vaishali district hospital in 2018.

e-charging stations at Patna, Patliputra junctions

The General Manager of the East Central Railway (ECR), LC Trivedi, recently launched two public e- charging stations at Patna and Patliputra junctions in Bihar. This is the first such facility launched by the Indian Railways. The e-charging stations will be able to charge all types of electric vehicles. Anyone can charge their e-vehicles from these two stations for a nominal fee. Trivedi said it is a matter of pride that Patna and Patliputra junctions have become country's first two railway stations to have this facility.

TRAPPED CHINESE MINERS SEND UP DESPERATE NOTE

Men stuck 2,000 feet underground for eight days beg rescuers not to stop

BEIJING

AT least 12 gold miners trapped hundreds of metres underground in China for more than a week have sent up a note warning that they are injured, surrounded by water and urgently need medicine.

Twenty-two workers were trapped nearly 2,000 feet from the mine's entrance after a blast eight days ago near Qixia city in eastern Shandong province. After days without any signs of life, rescuers heard knocking sounds on Sunday afternoon as they drilled through the mine's shaft.

A note was sent up on a line from the depths below saying that at least a dozen of the miners are still alive, but that they urgently needed help as their health deteriorates.

"We are in urgent need of medicine, painkillers, medical tape, external anti-inflammatory drugs, and three people have high blood pressure," the note read.

The condition of the other ten workers is unknown.

Four people were injured, according to the note, which was crumpled, water-stained and scrawled in pencil on pages ripped out of a notebook.

"We wish the rescuers won't stop so that we can still have hope. Thank you," the note read. The writer of the note asked rescuers to send down some medication from his car, and warned that there was a large amount of underground water where the miners are trapped.

Rescuers were later able to speak with some of the trapped workers after lowering a phone line into the mine, local officials said at a press conference Monday, without giving details of what was said. Footage from state broadcaster CCTV showed rescue workers cheering as the knocking sound was detected and later hurrying to read the note which was taped to a line sunk below using a pneumatic drill.

Fears of insider attack during inaugural

WASHINGTON

US defense officials say they are worried about an insider attack or other threat from service members involved in securing President-elect Joe Biden's inauguration, prompting the FBI to vet all of the 25,000 National Guard troops coming into Washington for the event.

The massive undertaking reflects the extraordinary security concerns that have gripped Washington following the deadly Jan. 6 insurrection at the US Capitol by pro-Trump rioters. And it underscores fears that some of the very people assigned to protect the city over the next several days could present a threat to the incoming president and other VIPs in attendance.

Army Secretary Ryan McCarthy told The Associated Press on Sunday that officials are conscious of the potential threat, and he warned commanders to be on the lookout for any problems within their ranks as the inauguration approaches. So far, however, he and other leaders say they have seen no evidence of any threats, and officials said the vetting hadn't flagged any issues that they were aware of.

"We're continually going through the process, and taking second, third looks at every one of the individuals assigned to this operation," McCarthy said in an interview after he and other military leaders went through an exhaustive, three-hour security drill in preparation for Wednesday's inauguration. He said Guard members are also getting training on how to identify potential insider threats.

About 25,000 members of the National Guard are streaming into Washington from across the country — at least two and a half times the number for previous inaugurals. And while the military routinely reviews service members for extremist connections, the FBI screening is in addition to any previous monitoring.

Multiple officials said the process began as the first Guard troops began deploying to D.C. more than a week ago. And they said it is slated to be complete by Wednesday.

Tough regulator to head SEC?

WASHINGTON

President-elect Joe Biden is set to nominate Rohit Chopra as the director of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, tapping a progressive ally of Elizabeth Warren to helm the agency. Chopra helped launch CFPB after the 2008 crisis, and had sounded the alarm on massive levels of student loan debt.

Biden also said he intents to nominate Gary Gensler as the next chair of the Securities and Exchange Commission. Gensler, a former Goldman Sachs banker, tightened oversight of the financial transactions that helped cause the Great Recession. Tapping Gensler, who was a strong markets regulator during the 2008 crisis, signals a goal of turning the SEC toward an activist role after a deregulatory stretch during the Trump years. AP

SAMSUNG CHIEF SENT BACK TO JAIL FOR BRIBERY

Lee Jae-yong, company's vice-chair | AFP

SEOUL

THE de facto chief of South Korea's Samsung business empire was convicted Monday over a huge corruption scandal and jailed for two and a half years, in a ruling that deprives the tech giant of its top decision-maker.

Lee Jae-yong, vice-chairman of Samsung Electronics, the world's biggest smartphone and memory chip maker, was found guilty of bribery and embezzlement in connection with the scandal that brought down president Park Geun-hye.

Lee "actively provided bribes and implicitly asked the president to use her power to help his smooth succession" at the head of the sprawling conglomerate, the Seoul Central District Court said in its verdict.

"It is very unfortunate that Samsung, the country's top company and proud global innovator, is repeatedly involved in crimes whenever there is a change in political power." AFP

Cash-starved states seek release of suspended funds

In a pre-Budget consultation with Nirmala Sitharaman, the finance ministers of states have sought sustained support from the Centre

BUDGET 2021 RUN-UP

There were bouquets of demands. While most were state specific requests, almost every state had requests for special packages. The FM took note of their demands

Senior official

Consultations with India Inc

A series of meetings were held in December. A host of suggestions concerning fiscal policy, taxation and green growth were received from over 170 stakeholders.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AMID concerns of falling revenue and mounting debt, the states have requested the Nirmala Sitharaman to provide special assistance in the time of Covid-19 and release various grants and funds which the Centre had held due to pandemic. Just two weeks ahead of the Union Budget, Finance minister Nirmala Sitharaman held a meeting with the finance minister of states and Union Territories to get their suggestions.

"Most of the states expressed concern over the revenue collection and burdened state finance. They suggested resumption of grants and funds immediately so that states can continue with the projects which are on hold or postponed due to paucity of funds," a senior official told this publication. States have also requested the Centre to make a generous provision for the cost of vaccines and a generous spending for the improvement of health infrastructures in the states. "There were bouquets of demands. While there were various state specific requests from the FM, almost every state had requests for special packages. The FM took note of all," the official added.

For instance, the government of Haryana requested for a ₹5,000 crore special package for the state, while Orissa demanded provision of at least ₹7,200 crore in the forthcoming Budget for the on-going railway projects, establishment of rail-based industries and multi-modal logistics parks. Similarly, Arunachal Pradesh has requested for a special package to develop the border areas the state shares with China, Myanmar and Bhutan and which are strategically sensitive. Delhi Deputy Chief Minister Manish Sisodia requested Sitharaman to treat Delhi at par with the Union Territory of Jammu and Kashmir when it comes to providing share from Central Taxes and Central Assistance to UTs, and the Disaster Response Fund. He demanded that a one-time grant of ₹12,000 crore be released, which is the share of Delhi Municipal Corporations.

The Union Budget 2021-22 will be presented on February 1 and the budget session in Parliament is scheduled to begin on January 29 and will go on till April 8, 2021.

Total, Adani ink deal for 20% of AGEL

$2.5 bn SIZE OF THE TOTAL-ADANI DEAL

CORPORATE BOARD MEMBER The agreement will also see Total get two seats on Adani Green Energy's (AGEL) Board of Directors. AGEL currently has 14.6 GW of contracted capacity.

37.4% TOTAL'S STAKE IN ADANI GAS

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIAN energy major Adani Group and French oil and gas giant Total on Monday announced that they have inked a $2.5 billion deal under which the French company will receive a 20 per cent stake in Adani Green Energy— a renewable energy company.

The agreement will also see Total get two seats on Adani Green Energy's (AGEL) Board of Directors. Going by projects, AGEL is already the world's largest solar energy producer and Total is set to get a 50 per cent stake in AGEL's massive 2.35 GW portfolio of operating solar assets. This is not the first such agreement signed between the Paris-based energy firm and the Adani Group. In 2018, Total had agreed to buy a 37.4 per cent stake in Adani Gas Ltd—the city gas distribution firm of the Adani Group—and a 50 per cent stake in Adani's under-construction Dhamra LNG project in Odisha.

"Our entry into AGEL is a major milestone in our strategy in the renewable energy business in India put in place by both parties," Total CEO and Chairman Patrick Pouyanne said, "Given the size of the market, India is the right place to put into action our energy transition strategy based on two pillars: renewables and natural gas". Total also said that the investment in AGEL is another step deepening the strategic alliance between Adani Group and the French firm.

AGEL currently has 14.6 GW of contracted capacity, with an operating capacity of 3 GW and another 3 GW under construction and 8.6 GW under development. The company wants to achieve a renewable energy capacity of 25 GW. Total, for its part, had a gross power generation capacity worldwide of 12 GW at the end of 2020, with a renewable energy capacity of close to seven GW. It plans to increase renewable capacity to 35 GW by 2025.

"We have a shared vision of developing renewable power at affordable prices to enable a sustainable energy transformation in India. We look forward to working together towards delivering India's vision for 450 GW renewable energy by 2030," said Adani Group chairman Gautam Adani.

CANF

Over the past five years, Can Fin Homes has been prudent in balancing growth, profitability and asset quality. On the growth front, we expect a modest 8% loan book CAGR over FY20-23E given a slowdown in disbursement growth and higher levels of balance transfers out of the book. We expect strong RoE to drive re-rating.

Hero Motors buys stake in UK's design tech firm Hewland Engineering

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HERO Motors Company (HMC) on Monday said it is securing a strategic stake in UK's transmission design technology company Hewland Engineering Ltd. The acquisition will enable Hero Motors to create a competitive single source entity to design and manufacture high-quality transmission products, particularly in the emerging EV segment, to original equipment manufacturers (OEMs) across North America, Europe and India, said the auto component maker in a statement.

The acquisition made for an undisclosed amount will also enable Hewland to further strengthen its product and service portfolio – particularly in the area of transmissions for electrified passenger cars — and aggressively pursue opportunities among global OEMs and tier-I suppliers. "Hewland has over 60 years of rich heritage and experience at the top levels of global motorsport and OEM component supply. This investment represents a significant strategic inflection point for us in the transmission product segment," said HMC chairman and managing director, Pankaj M Munjal. He added the company is continuing to invest in the UK as it is a significant hub for EV and cycle-focused activities in particular, as well as for Hewland's established motorsport customer base. This investment comes as Hero Motors continues to record robust growth in the first half of financial-year 2021, driven by major export projects and strong volume growth in its domestic market, Munjal said.

As part of its three-year roadmap shared earlier this year, the group plans to treble international revenues by augmenting its R&D and business-development activities within the European Union, he noted.

Hewland Engineering Chairman William Hewland said that collaboration will help enhance its presence in the EV market.

JAPANESE FIRM DAICEL TO SET UP PLANT IN CHENNAI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

JAPAN-based Daicel Corporation will be setting up an airbag inflator manufacturing plant at CapitaLand's OneHub Chennai, an industrial township located on Old Mahabalipuram Road with a planned investment of about ₹230 crore in the first phase. The firm will start its operations by December 2023.

Until now, Daicel has been supplying products to the Indian market from its production site in Thailand and other countries. "However, due to the growth potential of the Indian automobile market, and the need to strengthen automobile manufacturer and airbag module manufacturer supply chains in India, we have decided to establish a local production site at OneHub Chennai. We will further strengthen our presence in the Indian market through stable production and supply of products," said Takase Yoshifumi, Managing Director, India Operations, Daicel Corporation. OneHub Chennai (OHC) is developed by CapitaLand in a joint venture with IREO and Japanese Consortium comprising Mizuho Bank and JGC Corporation. The 1250-acre (506 ha) future-ready business city is located within Greater Chennai, on Old Mahabalipuram Road, the growth corridor of Chennai. The proposed plant will be Daicel Corporation's first airbag inflator manufacturing unit in India spread across 30 acres.

Earlier, in October 2018, in response to growth in the Indian automobile market and the tightening of safety regulations, Daicel established a sales base Daicel Safety Systems India Pvt. Ltd., DSSI in Gurugram, Haryana.

Mindtree Q3 profit up 66% on deal wins

Attrition rate down at 12.5%

In line with industry trend, the attrition rate came down to 12.5 per cent in the quarter ended December from 13.8 per cent in the previous quarter. Total headcount as of December 31, 2020 stood at 22,195 employees. Mindtree said all campus offers have been honoured and the last batch is likely to join in February.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

COVID-19 led tailwinds in the digital segment has seen IT majors posting huge jump in revenue for the December-ended quarter of the current financial year. Even mid-cap firms saw a boost in earnings as they leveraged the digital transformation wave accelerated by the pandemic.

Bengaluru-headquartered Mindtree on Monday posted a 66 per cent year-on-year (YoY) increase in net profit to Rs. 326.5 crore for Q3 FY21 On a sequential basis, the net profit was up 28.7 per cent. Revenue for the quarter under review stood at ₹2,023.7 crore, up five per cent sequentially and three per cent on an annual basis driven by broad-based growth across verticals and service lines. Dollar revenue grew five per cent sequentially to $274.1 million reflecting strong business momentum. However, the revenue saw a decline of 0.4 per cent when compared to the previous year. Net profit, in dollar terms, grew by 59.35 per cent YoY to $44.2 million, the company said in a statement. According to Debbashis Chaterjee, chief executive officer of Mindtree, a healthy order book of $312 million has positioned the firm well and given a strong outlook for next several quarters. The EBITDA margin improved 350 basis points to 23.1 per cent from 19.6 per cent in the previous quarter. The L&T backed IT firm added 8 clients during the December quarter, taking its total client count to 276.

PFC's ₹5,000 cr bonds issue over-subscribed

New Delhi: State-run Power Finance Corporation's (PFC) ₹5,000 crore taxable non-convertible debentures (NCDs) issue was subscribed close to nine times on Monday and closed for subscription 11 days ahead of the schedule, according to the BSE. PFC has planned to raise ₹10,000 crore through bonds in two tranches. The first tranche of ₹5,000 crore, including ₹4,500 crore green-shoe option, opened for subscription on Friday (January 15) and was scheduled to close on January 29. But the issue had to be closed on Monday, the second day of trading, due to over-subscription on BSE. Subscribers applied for 4,47,76,348 bonds or NCDs of ₹1,000 each against 50 lakh bonds on the offer (with 4.5 crore NCDs under green-shoe option).

Cure.fit acquires US-based Onyx to strengthen its digital fitness offerings

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

HEALTH-tech start-up Cure.fit on Monday said that it has acquired a California-based fitness firm Onyx to bolster its digital offerings at a time when home workouts are in vogue.

According to the company, the acquisition is a step towards improving its computer vision technology for its at-home fitness product and expanding its international business. Recently, Cure.fit launched in the United States with its energy-meter tech wherein the phone camera tracks users' movements as they try to follow guided content from trainers. Users can also track their improvement, compete with their friends, post selfies and follow their favourite trainers.

"The 20s will be the decade of digital health. Onyx will accelerate our efforts towards building a hardware agnostic AI-led platform that offers guided content on physical and mental wellness and nutrition — all at the same place. Users will get a personalised experience with high quality tech and human touch, and will be able to achieve their fitness goals from the comfort of their home without spending on expensive hardware," said Mukesh Bansal, c-founder of Cure.fit.

Onyx specialises in body tracking technology and personalisation of workout feedback. It provides highly accurate repcounts, form correction, and detailed performance tracking. Onyx is also one of the highest-rated apps in the fitness domain, which recently featured as "App of the Day" on the Apple app store and has seen rapid user growth over the course of the last year.

"With this tech, our digital product will be very similar to attending a group class at a boutique studio or a personal training session in the gym," said Shamik Sharma, head of Technology at Cure.fit.

Ford India to shut Chennai plant amid chip shortage

Not all are affected

While most car makers said they were expecting a curb in production, Maruti Suzuki and Hyundai Motor has not reported any drop so far in manufacturing.

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FORD India has decided to extend the four-day shutdown of its Chennai plant by another week due to global shortage of semiconductors. Going ahead, the US-based carmaker expects the issue to continue for at least the first half of 2021. Besides, production at its Gujarat plant will also be impacted due to the scarcity of the raw material.

"In Chennai, we have pulled ahead a down week to this week due to a supplier part shortage connected to the global semiconductor shortage. We are working closely with suppliers to address production constraints tied to the global semiconductor shortage and working to prioritize key vehicle lines for production, making the most of our semiconductor allocation," said a Ford India spokesperson.

Other carmakers such as Toyota, Volkswagen, Fiat Chrysler and Nissan have also stated they have been hit by the shortage, forcing them to delay production of some models in order to keep other factories running. Recently, auto components industry body ACMA had also said it was still not clear as to what extent and for how long the shortage of semiconductors will impact vehicle production.

"50 stores in 5 years means so much because it gives us the opportunity to serve more and more," said Amit Kothari, head, marketing and communications, H&M India.

ECR outperforms other zones, secures second place in half-yearly review

Indian Railways is committed to upgrading its infrastructure and tackling future challenges by adopting new technologies. Under this commitment, many schemes are currently being implemented, which are reviewed from time to time by the Railway Minister and the Railway Board. In order to achieve these goals, the Railway Board sets targets for 42 points for various sectors of all the 16 Zonal Railways of Indian Railways every year, under which MoUs are signed at the General Manager and Railway Board level and their Railway Board in due course. In the same sequence, East Central Railway has secured second position with 63.85 per cent, securing 95.8 out of 150 marks prescribed for 42 points selected for the half-year review.

Former India cricketer Chandrasekhar hospitalised

Former India cricketer BS Chandrasekhar has been hospitalised after suffering a stroke but is recovering well and is set to be discharged on Tuesday. The 75-year old legend complained of "tiredness and fatigue" on Friday evening and his speech became a "little bit cluttered", his wife Sandhya Chandrsekhar Bhagwath said, describing the health scare as a "very, very minutest stroke".

GRANDSTAND FINISH

Siraj's maiden fifer restricts Australia; India need 324 runs or a draw to retain Border Gavaskar Trophy on Day 5

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

DURING last year's Indian Premier League, Royal Challengers Bangalore did a behind-the-scenes interview with Mohammed Siraj. Titled 'The Mohammed Siraj you didn't know' (there on YouTube), it's a compelling watch. Some of the best bits of the video is when he talks about the influence of Bharathi Arun (India's bowling coach) in his life. "Bharathi Arun sir came into my life and things changed so much," he says. "That man used to give me so much confidence that there is no limit to that. He used to back me a lot. He is a guardian angel to me."

They do go back a few years. Siraj came into the national consciousness excelling for Hyderabad, while Arun was coach there. In 2018, Arun, who had moved to the national team, had convinced the management to call him up for a Test series against West Indies. Speaking on the eve of the second Test in Hyderabad, Arun made one telling remark. "He's (Siraj) a quick learner," he informed the scribes.

Leading the attack in just his third Test, Siraj showed why Arun made that observation about him. Needing quick runs, Australia had taken the early initiative on Monday. Eight of their first 10 scoring shots were boundaries, four of those coming off Siraj. That's when he went back to basics. He trusted the pitch's natural fourth day variation and soon started getting his rewards. The extra bounce off good length areas snared both Marnus Labuschagne and Steve Smith. Matthew Wade was removed for nought. He returned late in the day to scalp Mitchell Starc and Josh Hazlewood.

That he cherished Smith's wicket the most is a reflection of how he used the pitch. "In the whole series, I feel it would be Smith's wicket, there was extra bounce from the area where I thought I will get it," he said after the day's play. "He is the best batsman in the world and it gave me a lot of confidence."

India's Mohammed Siraj (C) celebrates his fifth wicket with teammates on Day 4 of the fourth Test against Australia at the Gabba, in Brisbane, on Monday | AFP

When India needed, Siraj delivered. Even if his maiden fifer will attract eyeballs, the 26-year-old has excelled since making his Test bow less than a month ago. In a side filled with bowling heroes, he will come back to India as the bowler with most wickets for India (13) from the Test series. Considering he was the sixth choice Indian pacer when the tour began, his meteoric rise — from tennis ball cricket less than nine years ago to leading the pace attack of the national team in Australia — still feels like a dream.

In a series filled with stories of fighting odds, it's fitting that Siraj has his own special place. When he left home to serve a hard quarantine in the desert before the IPL, he found it hard because of his father's (Ghous) ill-health. He used to disconnect calls because he himself would start crying, he says in the same interview with RCB.

After his father, Ghous, passed away while Siraj was serving quarantine in Sydney before the start of the ODI leg of the series in November, the Hyderabadi had to make a decision. Stay. Or go. It was no surprise that Arun got in touch with him. "This could be your series," he told his young charge. "Nobody is going to force you to stay. If you choose to stay back, you won't regret it. You will get your chance."

He stayed. He got his chance. You know the rest.

Karnataka win, but qualification uncertain

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

KARNATAKA beat Uttar Pradesh in their last round-robin match of the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy in Alur on Monday by five wickets, but their quarterfinal hopes remain uncertain. With just one team attaining direct entry from the six groups to the quarterfinals, Punjab have secured that spot from Elite Group A.

Karnataka, who secured second place with 16 points, are hoping to finish as one of the two best second-placed teams across the five elite groups to reach the last eight. For that to happen, they need results to go their way on Tuesday.

Though the format is tough, Karnataka have not been impressive. Their batting has let them down. Barring Devdutt Padikkal, who scored 207 runs in the competition, others have been inconsistent. Skipper Karun Nair has failed too.

On Monday, Karnataka knew fully well that they had to win the match by a big margin in a bid to improve their net run rate, but things did not go according to plan initially after they opted to bowl. Openers Karan Sharma and Abhishek Goswami batted well as Karnataka could not break the opening stand. Spinner J Suchith finally dismissed Goswami in the ninth over with their score reading 69/1. Uttar Pradesh lost wickets at regular intervals after that. From 93/2, they finished with 132/8 in 20 overs. Praveen Dubey and Suchith took three wickets each.

With Karnataka needing an early win, Padikkal played his shots. He hit a 19-ball 34, but lost his wicket in the fifth over. And when Karnataka were reduced to 72/4, one wondered if they would suffer their second defeat . However, Gopal rose to the occasion with an unbeaten 47 from 28 balls, which comprised five fours and a six. His innings helped them reach the target in the 20th over.

Brief scores: At Kolkata: Assam 148/5 in 20 ovs (Riyan Parag 42) lt to Odisha 154/6 in 19 ovs (Subhransu Senapati 64). Hyderabad 139/9 9 in 20 ovs (B Sandeep 37, Vivekanand Tiwari 3/25, Vikash Singh 3/36) tied Jharkhand 139/9 in 20 ovs (Ajay Dev Goud 4/22). At Bengaluru: UP 132/8 in 20 ovs (Goswami 47, Karan Sharma 41; J Suchith 3/21, Dubey 3/15) lt to Karnataka 136/5 in 19.3 ovs (Shreyas Gopal 47 n.o).

FCBU tie up with Sevilla

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

FC BENGALURU United (FCBU) have entered into a partnership agreement with La Liga club Sevilla FC, who are further expanding their brand internationally.

Since the end of last year, the two clubs were in frequent conversation before the agreement became official. FCBU, owned by Nimida United Sports Development Private Limited, is keen to learn about the expertise and knowledge from the Spanish club.

"FC Bengaluru United being a young club has a lot to learn from the success and expertise of Sevilla FC that has won six Europa League titles. We look forward to building our youth talent with a 'Never Surrender' attitude. Furthermore we look forward to leveraging the technology talent in Bengaluru to work on innovative sport technology together with Sevilla FC," said Gaurav Manchanda, founder and director of Nimida Sports, told this newspaper.

Australia rebuffs tennis stars' complaints

Dozens of players stuck in hotel quarantine ahead of the Australian Open were told they would get no "special treatment" to leave their rooms to train, despite complaints from some players including World No 1 Novak Djokovic. Here's a look at the updates...

PLAYERS IMPROVISE

Players in isolation resorted to hitting balls off windows, walls and upturned beds in the hope of being ready for the year's first Grand Slam. A total of 72 players, deemed close contacts of the four Covid-19 cases, have been barred from leaving their hotel rooms for 14 days. New Zealand player Artem Sitak said he could hear tennis balls hitting the walls "everywhere" in his hotel.

DJOKOVIC DEMANDS

Djokovic reportedly sent a list of demands to tournament organisers that included allowing players to move to private homes with tennis courts. Victoria Premier Daniel Andrews smashed back that request.

RESPITE FOR SOME

Majority of players, including Djokovic, are allowed out to train for five hours a day, unlike other returned travellers who are confined to hotel rooms. Andrews said players knew about Australia's quarantine rules ahead of their flights. Tennis Australia has begun delivering exercise equipment to the isolated players who are concerned about the risk of injury when they hit the courts for a week of lead-intournaments.

Chennaiyin held by SC East Bengal

GOA: A spirited effort by the SC East Bengal defense led by goalkeeper Debjit Majumder helped the Kolkata side nullify a one-man advantage to Chennaiyin ending up with a vital point in the Indian Super League at the GMC Stadium, Bambolim, on Monday. The game ended 0-0.

Dimas returns to Spain due to family emergency

BENGALURU: Bengaluru FC, on Sunday, announced that their midfielder Dimas Delgado has gone back to Spain due to a family emergency. The club tweeted, "..the Spaniard flew back home on Sunday, and all of us at Bengaluru FC stand by Dimas through what is a difficult time for him." He is expected to miss some upcoming matches in the ISL, where they currently lie seventh on the table.

Ocean's secret weapon to remove plastic

Every year, an estimated eight million tons of plastic is dumped into our oceans, threatening the lives of fish, seabirds and marine mammals. Now, a new study suggests that the key to clearing our oceans of plastic may lie in seagrass...

WHAT WE KNOW ABOUT MARINE SEAGRASS

There are some 70 species of marine seagrass, grouped in several families of flowering plants that — originally on land — recolonised the ocean some 80 to 100 million years ago

Most species have long, grass-like leaves that can form vast underwater meadows

WHERE ARE SEAGRASSES FOUND?

Seagrasses are found along the coast, in clear, shallow waters that allow light for photosynthesis, to penetrate. Some species occupy the intertidal zone, the area between the highest tide line and lowest tide line, from which the sea retreats at low tide to expose the seabed

IMPORTANT FOR ENVIRONMENT

They play a vital role in improving water quality, absorb CO2 and exude oxygen, and are a natural nursery and refuge for hundreds of species of fish

They are also the foundation of coastal food webs. By anchoring shallow waters, they help prevent beach erosion, and dampen the impact of destructive storm surges

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Seagrass forms so-called 'Neptune balls'. The oval orbs — the shape of a rugby ball — forms from the base of leaves that have been shredded by the action of ocean currents but remain attached to stems, called rhizomes

As they are slowly buried by sedimentation, the damaged leaf sheaths form stiff fibres that intertwine into a ball, collecting plastic in the process

HOW MUCH PLASTIC IS CAPTURED BY NEPTUNE BALLS?

1. The study between 2018 and 2019 was carried out around Mallorca where there are extensive meadows and high levels of plastic near the shore
2. There was plastic debris among 50 per cent of the 42 samples and intertwined in 17 per cent of 198 fibres, known as Neptune balls
3. Up to 613 and 1,470 items per kilogram were in loose leaves and Neptune balls, respectively. They come from everyday household products including packaging, bottle caps and tableware
4. Combining the data with estimates of seagrass production in the Mediterranean suggested meadows capture up to 867 million pieces a year in Neptune balls alone

900

With no help from humans, the swaying plants — anchored to shallow seabeds — may collect nearly 900 million plastic items in the Mediterranean alone every year

We show that plastic debris in the seafloor can be trapped in seagrass remains, eventually leaving the marine environment through beaching. We don't know where they travel. We only know that some of them are beached during storms

Israel vax stockpile tied to data sharing deal

Data privacy specialist warns that rollout of the Pfizer-BioNTech vaccine may be 'biggest experiment on humans in the 21st Century'

HEALTH

JERUSALEM: Israel has secured a significant stock of coronavirus vaccines partly by pledging to share product impact data quickly, an agreement between the country and Pfizer on Monday indicates.

The Jewish state has given one jab of the two required Pfizer-BioNTech injections to more than two million people, a pace widely described as the world's fastest, while several wealthier nations continue to struggle with vaccine supply.

Israel, which experts say has one of the world's most sophisticated medical databases, has not concealed the fact that it agreed to share data with US-German pharma alliance Pfizer-BioNTech during its vaccination campaign.

As data privacy activists raised questions about the level of information sharing with Pfizer, Israel's health ministry released a partially redacted copy of the terms.

The deal called "The Real-World Epidemiological Evidence Collaboration Agreement" does not state the specific terms of any 'data for doses' arrangement. But it does make clear that Pfizer understands Israel must remain well stocked in order to generate quality data about the vaccine quickly.

The agreement defines the joint project between Israel and Pfizer as an effort to "measure and analyse epidemiological data arising from the product (vaccine) rollout."

It further says Israel's health ministry "is relying on receipt of product doses... and on the product delivery rate by Pfizer to allow maintaining (a) vaccination rate sufficient to achieve herd immunity and enough data as soon as possible."

"Both parties acknowledge that the viability and success of the project is dependent on the rate and scope of vaccinations in Israel," it continues.

Proponents feel the deal could allow Israel to become the first country to vaccinate most of its population | AP

Israel is relying on receipt of product doses... and on the product delivery rate by Pfizer to allow maintaining (a) vaccination rate sufficient to achieve herd immunity and enough data as soon as possible

Agreement with Pfizer

Experiment on humans

Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu earlier this month said that Israel had agreed "to share with Pfizer and with the entire world the statistical data that will help develop strategies for defeating the coronavirus." Israel's arrangement with Pfizer would help make it "the first country in the world to emerge from the coronavirus," he predicted.

Tehilla Shwartz Altshuler, a data privacy specialist at the Israel Democracy Institute think-tank who spoke to AFP before the data sharing terms were published, described Israel's digitised medical data system as "a very unique asset."

She said regulators have justifiably given emergency approval to Pfizer's vaccine given the gravity of the pandemic, but that the company is eagerly seeking more comprehensive data about its product.

"Israel can offer Pfizer, within like a month or six weeks, data on a couple of million people," she said. But she warned that Israel's rollout of the Pfizer vaccine amounted to "the biggest experiment on humans in the 21st Century".

Altshuler added that there should have been a more thorough public conversation about the data-sharing element of the inoculation campaign.

Earlier this month, the head of the World Health Organisation (WHO) appealed to drug-makers and wealthier countries to "stop making bilateral deals," saying they hurt a UN-backed effort to widen access. Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus did not single out any countries or companies.

Last week, Dr. Siddhartha Datta, WHO Europe's program manager for vaccine-preventable diseases and immunization, said the agency is trying to collect "disaggregated" data — based on age, gender, local area, employment and other factors — and reporting on any safety issues as the vaccines are deployed.

Brazil OKs use of two vaccines

HEALTH

RIO DE JANEIRO: Brazil's health regulator on Sunday approved the urgent use of coronavirus vaccines made by Sinovac and AstraZeneca, enabling Latin America's largest nation to begin an immunization program that's been subject to delay and political disputes.

Brazil currently has 6 million doses of Sinovac's CoronaVac vaccine ready to distribute in the next few days and is awaiting the arrival of 2 million doses of the vaccine made by AstraZeneca and partner Oxford University. "This is good news for Brazil, but 6 million doses are still very few. It will not allow the entire population at risk to be fully immunized, nor is it clear how quickly the country will obtain more vaccines," said Ethel Maciel, an epidemiologist at the Federal University of Espirito Santo.

On Saturday night, the health regulator Anvisa rejected an application for use of a Russian vaccine called Sputnik V, submitted by Brazilian company União Química. Anvisa said it didn't evaluate the application because it didn't meet minimum requirements to start an analysis.

Vaccination in Brazil is beginning later than neighbours such as Argentina and Chile despite a robust public health system and decades of experience with immunisation campaigns. The process to present and approve the jabs was fraught with conflict, as allies of President Jair Bolsonaro sought to cast doubt on the efficacy of the Sinovac shot.

TECH

Now, robots would deliver medicines and essential services to Covid-19 patients at a hospital in Assam, officials said in Guwahati on Sunday. The robots designed by the Guwahati-based Yantrabot Technologies Pvt Limited with remote controllable robotic vehicles would deliver food, medicines and other essential services to Covid-19 patients as well as patients with other extremely contagious diseases inside the isolation chambers of the quarantine facilities. Assam Chief Minister Sarbananda Sonowal o handed over two robots to the Principal of Dibrugarh-based Assam Medical College and Hospital (AMCH), Sanjib Kakati, to use them for delivering food, medicines and essential services to Covid patients.

Virgin Orbit reaches space

SATELLITE

Richard Branson's Virgin Orbit project on Sunday flew a rocket into space from the wing of a 747 plane, paving the way for a new method of launching low-cost satellites. It was the company's second attempt at the feat after a failed test in May. The plane took off from Mojave Air and Space Port in the desert north of Los Angeles and launched the rocket over the Pacific Ocean. Founded by British billionaire Richard Branson in 2012, Virgin Orbit wants to offer a quick and flexible service for operators of small satellites, weighing between 300 and 500 kilos, a market which is booming. The 70-foot rocket, named Launcher-One, is strapped to the underside of a wing on a converted Boeing 747.

Vaccine skew as 1 poor nation gets 25 doses

HEALTH

GENEVA: The head of the World Health Organisation (WHO) says it's "not right" that younger, healthier adults in rich countries get vaccinated against Covid-19 before older people in poorer countries.

Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus kicked off WHO's week-long executive board meeting — virtually from Geneva — on Monday by lamenting that only 25 vaccine doses have been provided in a single poor country, while over 39 million doses have been administered in nearly 50 richer nations. "Just 25 doses have been given in one lowest income country — not 25 million, not 25,000 — just 25. I need to be blunt," Tedros said. He didn't specify the country.

Tedros nonetheless hailed the scientific achievement behind rolling out vaccines less than a year after the pandemic erupted in China, where a WHO-backed team has now been deployed to look into origins of the coronavirus. "Vaccines are the shot in the arm we all need, literally and figuratively," he said.

Fossil fuel firms failing to curb climate gas leaks

ENVIRONMENT

BERLIN: The International Energy Agency says oil and gas companies aren't doing enough to reduce the release of methane, a potent source of planet-heating emissions, that is seeping out of pipelines and production plants.

A report published Monday by the Paris-based organisation found the estimated 10 per cent drop in methane emissions from oil and gas companies last year was largely due to lower production amid a global decline in demand due to the pandemic.

It warned that the amount of methane released into the atmosphere as part of the production process for fossil fuels could rebound again as economies recover, and called on countries and companies to do more to plug those leaks. While carbon dioxide emissions from the burning of fossil fuels are the main source of greenhouse gases, methane contributes significantly to the problem as well because it is so much more effective than CO2 at trapping heat in the atmosphere.

The IEA said its Methane Tracker report suggests the oil and gas industry worldwide emitted more than 70 million metric tons of methane last year, equivalent to the total energy-related CO2 emissions from the 27-nation European Union.

"There is no good reason to allow these harmful leaks to continue, and there is every reason for responsible operators to ensure that they are addressed," the agency's executive director, Fatih Birol, was quoted as saying. He added that governments could also help tackle the problem with more effective industry regulation.

Satellite imaging has become an increasingly important tool in pinpointing the source of man-made methane emissions in recent years.

The report cited data by analytics firm Kayrros showing that methane emissions decreased in Iraq, Kuwait, Turkmenistan and the US last year.

QUARANTINE-FREE ESCAPE

Life in new normal: Tourists flock to Dubai with Covid-appropriate restrictions

TOURISM

DUBAI: As much of the world tightens lockdowns to stem coronavirus, Dubai has flung its doors open, branding itself as a sunny, quarantine-free escape — despite a sharp rise in cases.

While mask-wearing and social distancing are strictly enforced, life in the tourism-reliant emirate looks much like normal, with its restaurants, hotels and mega-malls open for business. Images of sports stars and television personalities enjoying life at beach clubs and cocktail bars have flooded social media — sometimes to disapproval back home.

Emirates, which restored its network to about three quarters of pre-pandemic levels, is again operating A380 superjumbos — the world's largest commercial airliner — ferrying in visitors from Britain and Russia.

Russian tourist, Dmitriy Melnikov, said he came to Dubai because his choices were otherwise limited, with many destinations in partial or full lockdown. "I am not scared," the 30-year-old said. "If you look at people here, everyone has a mask, and I think it's cool."

But the downside to becoming one of the world's most open destinations has been a sharp rise in coronavirus cases. Daily detected cases hover in the mid-3,000s across the United Arab Emirates, which has a population of under 10 million, with 745 deaths from Covid-19 since the pandemic began. "There are significant risks in Dubai remaining so open," said Scott Livermore, chief economist at Oxford Economics Middle East. "A renewed outbreak of Covid-19 would set the recovery back quite some way."

Willing to take the risk

With a negative PCR test in their home countries — and possibly another upon arrival, depending on the place of departure — tourists can freely enter Dubai, where winter temperatures average a pleasant 25 degrees Celsius.

The neighbouring emirate of Abu Dhabi, which with large oil reserves is less dependent on tourism, has taken a much more conservative approach, generally requiring quarantine on arrival. In the Al Fahidi historical neighbourhood in Dubai, mask-clad tourists walk through alleyways, taking pictures of the recreation of life a century ago.

Hand sanitisers and floor stickers warning people to maintain their distance are everywhere, while most restaurants have replaced their menus with digital QR barcodes, that can be displayed on a smartphone.

"Before the coronavirus, tour groups were up to 100 or 250 visitors with each tour guide, but now things are different, only 20 visitors maximum for each tour guide," said the district's director Nasser Juma bin Sulaiman.

Andi Pitman, from the US state of Alabama, said it was her first trip abroad since the start of the pandemic. "We are very excited to be here and a little nervous, but happy to be out again," she told AFP, strolling through Al-Fahidi with her husband and two children." None of us have had the vaccine yet, but we have small kids that need to be out and need to see the world, so we're willing to take the risk."

MOTHER'S RECIPE

Be it heirloom dishes or new-age recipes, this cookbook, penned by Badrunissa Irfan – mother of Uzma Irfan, director, Prestige Group – dishes out something for everyone

I try to keep my recipes minimal so that the flavours are enhanced. With extra garam masala and red chilli powder, you tend to miss out on the delicateness of the dishes

Badrunissa Irfan, writer, Duniya-e-Ziyafat

MONIKA MONALISA

EVER wondered what makes the food coming from your grandmother's or mother's kitchen yummier than even the best chef in the world?

There's something comforting in these dishes prepared by seasoned hands sans any sort of measurement. The recipes in Duniya-e-Ziyafat, a cookbook by Badrunissa Irfan, mother of Uzma Irfan, director, Prestige Group, dishes out some recipes that are sure to give you hunger pangs. The book was launched on Saturday at Sublime Art Galleria.

In the 184-page book, Irfan spills the secrets to some mouth watering dishes like Nalli Ka Salan, Herby Chicken among a host of others. According to Irfan, minimum spices and processes are secrets behind the taste. "The recipes that are shared in the book are simple which even beginners can follow. I always try to keep my recipes minimal so that the flavours are enhanced. With extra garam masala and red chilli powder, you tend to miss out on the delicateness of the dishes," says Irfan, adding that the other best kept secret is a clean kitchen. "I see many people who make a mayhem in the kitchen even if they just chop a cucumber. A clean kitchen provides clarity of mind," she adds.

The book is a compilation of recipes that Irfan had written for her daughter, Uzma, when she was in London. "In uni, there's not enough time to prepare an elaborate meal, so you need quick ones, which also give you a taste of home," says 62-year-old Irfan, adding that she hopes the book helps people churn out some delicious recipes even during a busy schedule.

Although there is no doubt that her meat dishes steal the show, her vegetarian dishes also have an equal number of takers. With options like Stir Fried Tofu, Herb Roasted Potato and more, the book has something for everyone. "It's mandatory to have a veggie dish in every meal that is cooked. My husband, Irfan Razack, is man of simple taste, he enjoys any vegetarian dish," she says, adding that there are enough dessert options too.

Family ties remain strong in this book since it also contains some recipes Irfan had learnt from her mother. "I started cooking at the age of six. Coming from a joint family, it used to be such nice way to bond," recalls Irfan, who went on to also learn how to make pickles from her grandmother. Besides some heirloom recipes, Irfan's cookbook also contains newer recipes which she discovered over time.

The book can be pre-ordered on sublime.in

Honeysuckle, a film that was shot in both Hungary and India, makes its OTT debut this month and looks at how emotions trump geographical boundaries

SIMRAN AHUJA

The year 2021 has started off on a good note for filmmaker Arunvignesh A D S. After months of editing and trying to find a distributor for his feature film, his project has finally made its debut on Amazon Prime UK and USA. Called Honeysuckle, the multilingual film (Tamil, Hungarian, Arabic and English) was shot in Budapest and Bengaluru and follows the individual stories of three different characters in Hungary and India. "I had shot some portions of the film while I was pursuing my masters in Budapest. Unfortunately, I couldn't complete it. But once I graduated in 2019, I knew I didn't want to leave the film incomplete so I took it up again, reworked the script and completed shooting the Bengaluru portions last year, just before the lockdown was imposed," says the 25-year-old filmmaker, who completed his undergraduate degree from St Joseph's College in the city.

Over the course of 75 minutes, Honeysuckle looks at the various conflicts its three protagonists face: A Hungarian taxi driver who smuggles immigrants between Serbia and Austria; Adam, a teenager in Budapest, who considers drug peddling to make a quick buck; and Aswatha, a Carnatic singer in Bengaluru who wants to cut ties and start over in a foreign land. Parts of the film, in fact, have been inspired by the filmmaker's own life and a common Indian longing for the American dream. "Like Aswatha, I too wanted to move abroad and pursue my passion. Even though I really wanted to do this, when it came to actually going down this road, I faced a lot of fear and concern about my decision," says Arunvignesh. When his plans to pursue a degree in film in USA didn't work out, the filmmaker headed to Hungary instead. Currently, he is based in Chennai and pursues a full time filmmaking career there. Speaking about the film's name, he explains how honeysuckle is a twinning plant, one where the two vines face each other but never connect. "We may have differences in where we are born, grow up, education or work, but the emotions we experience are universal," he says, adding that the ₹8 lakh film was completely self-funded.

While editing the film took two months, distributing it proved to be a big challenge. "We originally wanted the film on Netflix but it was rejected because the platform prefers commercial films. Amazon UK and US have an option where films accepted get screened on a pay per view basis, after, of course, they get a cut. This was possible only because I had an overseas bank account," explains Arunvignesh, who is working on making the film available to an Indian audience as well.

I had shot some parts while I was pursuing my masters in Budapest. Unfortunately, I couldn't complete it. But once I graduated in 2019, I knew I didn't want to leave the film incomplete so I took it up again

Imagine watching something in Hungarian and suddenly a Tamil song comes on. Hungarian is not a common foreign language so the film, which has subtitles, is intriguing enough to watch

Vasanti Sundaram, actor

The film was released on Jan. 15 and city-based actor Vasanti Sundaram is thrilled her first feature project made it onto a global platform. The 61-year-old plays Aswatha's family friend and believes the film has a special USP that makes it stand out amid the many films flooding OTT platforms today.

"Imagine watching something in Hungarian and suddenly a Tamil song comes on. It would make someone sit up and take note of what is happening. Hungarian is not a common foreign language so the film, which has subtitles, is intriguing enough to watch. And it's interesting to see these different stories come together, where the characters emerge victorious over their inner turmoils," she says.

Abhishek Iyengar on the grant from Facebook and how it is a boost for the struggling arts and culture space

Supporting ACT

EXPRESS FEATURES

The struggle of artistes during the pandemic goes without saying. Online shows may have compensated only to a certain extent, leaving many wondering about the road ahead. For those, like theatre practitioner Abhishek Iyengar, who eat, think and live theatre, the only choice has been to keep going. Giving the founder of WeMove Theatre a boost is a financial grant from Facebook, which he received recently. "In August last year, I came across this application calling different for profit organisations to come forward if they were hit by the pandemic," he says. So naturally, he went ahead and applied, and the result has been a pleasant surprise. "A part of the money was given in cash and the rest, which is awaited, will be given as Facebook credit," he says, adding that the average grant is about ₹1 lakh.

The application process involved explaining why his company has suffered most during the pandemic, and how Covid-19 has impacted him. "There's no doubt that performing arts has been severely affected but we've had the resilience to keep going. Whatever the challenges have been, we have tried to stay afloat," he says. He sent in a proposal that brought to light how theatre neither falls under skilled or unskilled labour and has little or no support from the government, and this bagged him the grant.

The written application, which also required legal documents regarding the company, involved some back and forth for clarifications. "Like parts of the proposal may have required fine-tuning, which is when they would re-connect with us," he says.

Now with this fund in hand, Iyengar will be utilising it towards the rent of their rehearsal space in Jayanagar as well as to organise a playwriting festival soon.

"Day by day, the number of playwrights is dwindling. The idea of this festival is to bring together budding and emerging writers who will be mentored by eminent personalities," he says. Currently working on a play, Lockdown, Iyengar is documenting the "biggest crisis of humanity" in this piece of Kannada-English work, which will be staged sometime in February or March.

I will be utilising the funds towards the rent of the rehearsal space in Jayanagar as well as to organise a playwriting festival soon

FIT BIT

PURNA MATSYENDRASANA

(FULL LORD OF THE FISHES POSE)

In Sanskrit, 'Purna' means 'full', 'Matsya' means 'fish', 'Indra' means 'lord' or 'king', and 'Asana' means 'pose'. It is named after founder of Hatha yoga, Yogi Matsyendranath. It stretches and strengthens the arms, legs, hips, abdomen and spine. It is a great posture to find a way towards enlightenment. It is all about bringing awareness to the spine and breathing. It benefits the body by promoting holistic health. The breathing is used to elevate the gastric activity and thereby improve digestion, increase appetite and eliminate negative forces.

STEPS

- Sit in Dandasana.
- Bend right knee. Bring the right foot to the root of the left thigh.
- Bring the left knee closer to the chest.
- Exhale, twist the trunk to the left. Wrap the left arm around the back.
- Hold your right ankle with the left hand.
- Lift the left foot off the floor and place it outside the right knee.
- Stay for a few breaths.
- Exhale and further twist the trunk to the left so that the right shoulder lies above the left knee.
- Push the left knee out using the right elbow and hold the left foot with the right hand.
- Look over the left shoulder and raise the chin up.
- Hold the pose for 30 to 60 seconds.
- Lift the left foot over the right thigh and stretch the left leg.
- Release the grip on the right ankle
- Relax in Dandasana.
- Switch the legs and repeat.

BENEFITS

- Expands the vertebrae and increases blood flow to the spinal muscles.
- The leg muscles are stretched, which brings a fresh supply of blood to calves, hamstrings, knees and ankles.
- Improves the flexibility of the shoulders, elbows and wrist.
- As abdomen is expanded, digestive organs are stimulated.
- Increases the lungs' volume.
- Promotes blood purification and helps in eliminating toxins.
- Internal organs are rejuvenated. It regulates metabolism and hormonal balance, which enhances immunity.
- Stimulates Svadhisthana (sacral) and Muladhara (root) chakras, which awakens kundalini.

LIMITATIONS

- Those with back pain, spinal ailments or hernia, peptic ulcers, sciatica, stiffness in the neck, must avoid this.
- Those who have injuries in the spine, abdomen, shoulders, knees or ankles, or have undergone recent surgery of the heart, abdomen or brain and hyperthyroidism, must avoid this.
- Pregnant and menstruating women must avoid this.

'LEAD' BY CREATIVITY

This upcoming workshop uses the pencil as a canvas as participants learn how to carve works of art into graphite

EXPRESS FEATURES

The pencil is usually the first tool artists pick up to make their masterpiece. But at this workshop, the humble pencil assumes a more important role as it doubles as the canvas one has to work on. Praveenaa S, an independent artist, has collaborated with city-based social space, Dialogues, for an online workshop where participants can learn the art of pencil carving or as Praveenaa calls it, "sculpting but on a smaller scale."

At the two-day workshop, participants will be introduced to miniature pencil sculpting, gain an understanding of the tools behind the art, while also learning how to carve each alphabet onto a pencil. "Pencil carving is a delicate and time consuming art form but once you understand the technique behind how to write the alphabets, it will become easy and interesting," says Praveenaa, adding that the workshop will also cover the techniques needed to create other pieces of art. "Teaching this art form online is going to be a challenge, so I have decided to break the workshop into two sessions. On the first day, they will learn how to write the alphabets and practice it on chalk; on the next day, they will learn how to handle pencil as a medium. Pencil carvings make for good gifts too and once you learn the artform, the possibilities are endless," adds the Chennai-based teacher.

The 22-year-old started doing pencil carvings two-and-a-half years ago and has, so far, created 200-250 works, including Tamil and English capital and cursive letters. "I also did few sculptures. One of my best work is the sculpture of a fetus along with 'amma' carved in Tamil. And my longest carving is 'sanjeevi_nagabooshanam', which is 22 letters on a single pencil!" she says.

While the 3D nature of this art form might intimidate some, Praveenaa is quick to reassure that different doesn't necessarily mean difficult. "If practiced regularly, any artform will be easy. Skills are to be developed only by practice."

The workshop will take place on Jan. 30 and 31 at 11am. For tickets, check dialogues.space

When news came that William Shakespeare, not the bard of course, was the second person in the UK to take the Covid-19 jab, there were memes, puns and jokes. Like The Taming of the Flu, All's well that ends well. I wouldn't want to be the first or second or even the 100th. Not looking for that kind of distinction. I am neither the bard nor share his name. That is why, if you see, what I mean.

There is so much written, discussed and debated about the merits and demerits of various vaccines, some of which are in the third phase of trials. Yes, even these shots which are supposed to tame the virus are causing us sleepless nights and days, just like the coronavirus did and is doing. And both the virus and the vaccines are novel to us. And, as usual, we are polarised – in support of vaccines and against!

No one knows which vaccine is good, which will have side, after, before effects and all that. Everyone, who is everyone, these days, is talking only about the vaccines, this jab and that jab, by this company and that company. While the learned minds assure us that it is ok to have a shot at it in restricted emergency situations, whatever that means, we all are still apprehensive. Some bravehearts have rolled up their sleeves and are all set to take the vaccine. But what bothers me is that while we are told that it is for 'restricted, emergency use', I don't see any restriction or emergency, since everyone is going to be covered.

It is not mandatory, but voluntary, we are told. While there is the videshi Covishield, we have the desi and Atma Nirbhar Covaxin, Again, we are told, there is no choice. In Karnataka, both vaccines are landing, some have landed. And even the first phase has started.

Where do we go from here? My friend is in two minds (not because we have two vaccines!) on taking the shot. We are back to the Shakespearean (the bard this time, and not his namesake who got inoculated) dilemma of to take or not to take. I told her solemnly it is up to us to decide which risk is greater – getting Covid-19 or taking the shot and suffering the side and after effects. Experts say most vaccines have side effects and there is no need to be afraid. After a year of virus fear, we continue to be apprehensive though life seems to be seemingly normal.

Again, we are told the recovery rate after contracting the virus is an impressive 90 per cent. So, then do we contract the virus and then recover and be part of the 90 per cent or more, or get inoculated and stop the virus. Yes, discussions and debates are still continuing at home. Perhaps, it will continue till V-Day (not Valentine's Day!).

There is a forward where a wise doctor says 'reassuringly' that even the humble paracetamol has dangerous side effects, including irreversible kidney failure. Yet, doctors prescribe it ... the forward says and asks us to wake up to the fact that no medicine is 100 per cent safe.

I agree. But there is a real dangerous side effect – a selfie while getting vaccinated!

Health and wellness have taken precedence in the last one year with the pandemic. Which is why Just Speak, a talk session, will focus on overall health in its sixth edition. With the overarching theme of health and wellness, speakers including tennis star Mahesh Bhupathi and founder of Soukya, Dr Isaac Mathai, will address the virtual gathering. "This is a platform I created during Covid times. Over the editions, we have addressed many social issues – marriage, mental wellness and media as a life-changer, money management, etc," says Kalaimamani Vasantha Vaikunth, founder of Just Speak. While many of these issues are casually discussed on platforms like WhatsApp and Facebook, Vaikunth felt the need for a forum that could give rise to an open discussion.

Having known Bhupathi from his days in the Gulf, where she also resided until five years ago when she moved to Bengaluru, she has requested the tennis ace to share his fitness mantras. In addition, Suja Mathai, who holds a doctorate in nutrition, and sports scientist Somya Rout will speak in a 7-10 minute window. "We've kept it crisp, catering to anyone who is interested in this area," she says, adding that a talk by Siddharth VR will explore vegetarianism and the issue of lack of protein. "These issues are chosen based on what is happening around us and will interest a wide range of people," says Vaikunth.

While Zoom, the platform on which this will be organised, allows a couple of hundred participants, she feels that the in-person connect is missing to an extent. "It does allow for questions to be asked but somehow interactions are limited," she says.

LOVEOLOGY
Mahesh Natarajan

MAHESH NATARAJAN

Can we attract love by pretending it exists?

Valentine's Day is less than a month away. Along with Rose Day a week before Valentine's, it can be quite the minefield. It has been a well-used trope in high school TV dramas for years, with the popularity of the hapless students at stake. Every other serial has one student, or a few, sending themselves roses and other gifts to make themselves look popular, and then there are stories where people who aren't really interested in each other, act as if they are, just to increase their perceived attractiveness to other possible suitors. The latter is a theme used in Bridgerton, one of the new serials on Netflix, and as with most such stories, the two acting as if they are in a relationship, kind of end up in one. We see these in our own shows as well.

Sometimes it is to make the actual target of romantic feelings jealous, and at other times, it is not really targeted at any one specific individual but a general performance, like so many peacocks strutting around with all their feathers fluffed up, hoping some potential mate would notice – any potential mate, really. The hint of desire can get quickly become a broad stroke of desperation.

The movies often show the characters in such charades having their comeuppance sooner or later. It is often quite public, and very dramatic - the stuff that becomes fodder for nightmares for all sorts of adult fears of humiliation, be it at the workplace or in society in general. That's the risk.

Be as that might, the point of it is simply this: Can we really attract love by pretending that love already exists, or at the very least, showcasing ourselves as lovable?

The short answer is yes. Much as we might wish, love doesn't just happen magically in an instant while we go about our everyday business, even if we romanticise just that. The chances of eyes meeting eyes in a bus, or while on a walk in the park, or across the room while making a presentation to the marketing director, and immediately falling in love happens rarely, if ever. Maybe you'd have the initial attraction, but after that, you would try to dress up, smell better, get a haircut, get your friends or family to meet and talk you up - all designed to present your most loveable self, and yes, it does get attention and, if you are lucky, affection as well.

Putting oneself our to find love and getting it to stick takes a lot of work. It is quite a risk and takes some real vulnerability to get a shot at it. Much as it might seem foolish that someone pretends to be in love to attract love, or send themselves love letters or roses, it takes a certain bravery as well. We might all want it, but not all of us might have the courage for it.

If the price one pays for it is a dozen roses, then it really is not too much.

Five directors, five stories, one film

The official poster of Pentagon, bankrolled by G-Cinemas, was released by Upendra

CE FEATURES

PENTAGON, spearheaded by director-turned-producer Guru Deshpande, had announced that five directors would come together for his upcoming anthology. The project, which is now underway, saw Real Star Upendra officially releasing the poster. The makers also introduced the five filmmakers who are helming five different stories. "The stories have a common theme even though all of them have their distinctive plots. Only the theme connects them, but the storylines do not converge," says Guru Deshpande. He is helming one story, while the other filmmakers involved are Badmaash and Shivaji Surathkal director Akash Srivatsa; Raghu Shivamogga, the director of Churikatte, Chandra Mohan of Double Engine fame and debutant Kiran Kumar.

"The shooting of three out of the five stories has already been completed in Bengaluru. We will be shifting to locations beyond Bengaluru for the next two stories in the next few days," says Guru Deshpande who is producing the film under his home banner G Cinemas Productions. The team, which has announced the details of the various directors involved in the project, plans to reveal details about the cast and crew who are part of Pentagon in the coming days.

This will be the first star-studded film in Kannada to be out in 2021; will simultaneously be dubbed and released in Telugu and Tamil
Dhruva Sarja

DHRUVA SARJA'S POGARU TO STORM INTO THEATRES ON FEB. 19

A SHARADHAA

AFTER over three years of hard work and effort, team Pogaru is ready with their release. "It will hit theatres on February 19," says Dhruva Sarja, who officially announced the release date. During an interaction with fans on social media, the Action Prince confirmed this date which coincides with Rathasapthami.

It will be the first big-star film to be out in 2021. Made in Kannada, the film will also be dubbed and released in Telugu and Tamil as Pogaru and Seema Thimiru, respectively. Pogaru, directed by Nanda Kishore, shows Dhruva in a notorious avatar, and Rashmika Manadanna as a college professor. The actor in his interaction also mentioned that Pogaru is not just meant to be a commercial entertainer, but a film filled with family sentiments, love and emotions. "This is a content-based subject, and viewers can come with high expectations to watch it," says Dhruva, who encouraged his fans to watch the film in theatres only.

The ensemble cast of Pogaru also features Raghavendra Rajkumar, Dhananjay, Pavithra Lokesh, and Mayuri, Ravi Shankar and Chikkanna. Its music has been composed by Chandan Shetty, while the background score is by V Harikrishna. The camera work has been handled by Vijay Milton. Pogaru bankrolled by BK Gangadhar also features bodybuilders Kai Greene, Morgan Aste, Johan Lucas and Jo Linder in the climax sequence.

Apoorva bags female lead in Kaala Patthar

The makers revealed the first look and film's title, which hint at Vikky's character of a soldier

CE FEATURES

KENDASAMPIGE and College Kumar hero Vikky Varun has announced his next project. Interestingly, the film draws attention with its very title, which is derived from a classic cult Hindi film Kaala Patthar. The first look was revealed by the makers along with the title (meaning black stone) and tagline --'Fear holds back too much in life'.

It is said to have a lot of relevance to the story written by Rama Rama Re director D Satya Prakash. It surrounds the black statue seen in the poster. The other highlights from the film's first look also give a hint at Vikky's character. He will be playing the role of a soldier. Chetan A C, who has previously worked as an associate with Rakshit Shetty, will mark his feature film debut with Kaala Patthar, produced by HP Naveen under the banner, S & S Enterprises.

Vikky, who has taken a long time to choose his third project, is undergoing a makeover to play this role. While the makers have planned to kickstart shooting for the film, it has also come to light that Apoorva has been roped in to play the female lead. The heroine, who shot to limelight with Ravichandran's directorial film, which was titled Apoorva, is now looking forward to the release of her next, Krishna Talkies. It stars Ajai Rao.

The team of Kaala Patthar had recently done a photoshoot with the lead pair, however, an official announcement of Apoorva joining the cast is yet to be made. As for the technical crew, the editing will be done by K M Prakash. With Udith Haritas scoring the music, the film will have lyrics written by Yogaraj Bhat, Jayanthi Kaikini and Hari Santhosh. The team plans to kick start shooting in February.

Puaada to be out on March 11

CE FEATURES

AMMY Virk and Sonam Bajwa-starrer Puaada will be the first Punjabi film to release in cinemas in over a year. The romantic comedy will hit theatres on March 11, exactly a year after cinemas shut down last year.

Puaada was initially set to release in the summer of June 2020 but was delayed due to the pandemic.

Kangana Ranaut's Dhaakad to hit the theatres on Oct. 1

CE FEATURES

KANGANA Ranaut's upcoming action thriller Dhaakad will be released in theatres on October 1, 2021. The makers made the announcement today, with a new poster featuring Kangana.

"Soham Rockstar Entertainment's Dhaakad, India's first female-led mega action thriller starring Kangana, releasing in cinemas on October 1, 2021," the tweet read. The film sees Kangana play an agent named Agni.

Directed by Razneesh Razy Ghai, an erstwhile ad filmmaker, Dhakkad also features Arjun Rampal in a key role. The film has cinematography by acclaimed Japanese cinematographer Tetsuo Nagata, known for his work in French films La Vie en Rose (2007), Splice (2009), and the 2006 release Paris, je t'aime.

Kangana was last seen in Ashwini Iyer Tiwari's Pangaa, and will next be seen in director Vijay's upcoming film Thalaivi, which is based on the life of late chief minister J Jayalalithaa.

Subhash Ghai's next production 36 Farmhouse

CE FEATURES

FILMMAKER Subhash Ghai's upcoming production, which will be directed by Gujarati filmmaker Vipul Mehta, is titled, 36 Farm House.

Ghai, known for helming films like Karz, Ram Lakhan, Taal, among others will be producing the upcoming movie under his Mukta Arts banner.

"We are proud to announce our new movie titled 36 FARMHOUSE by Mukta Arts Ltd. in association with Zee Studios.

Tandav row: FIR against Ali Abbas Zafar, Gaurav Solanki

CE FEATURES

AN FIR has been lodged against Tandav director Ali Abbas Zafar and the web series' writer Gaurav Solanki, for allegedly depicting Hindu gods in a bad light 'which could lead to religious flare-ups'.

The FIR was lodged at the Hazratganj police station late on Sunday night by senior sub-inspector Amarnath Yadav. It also named Amazon Prime's India head of original content Aparna Purohit, producer Himanshu Krishna Mehra and another unnamed person.

"A police team from Hazratganj will leave for Mumbai to investigate and interrogate those named in the FIR on Monday," said Deputy Commissioner of Police, central zone, Somen Barma.

Those named in the FIR have been booked for promoting enmity between different groups on grounds of religion, race, place of birth, makes destruction, damage, or defilement of a place of worship or an object held sacred; forgery for purpose of harming reputation, statements conducing to public mischief, with intent to threaten the unity, integrity, security or sovereignty of India, or to strike terror in the people or any section of the people.

The FIR says that there are angry outbursts on social media against the content of the web series which was released on January 16 and people are posting its clippings.

"After watching the series, it was found that in the 17th minute of Episode 1, characters playing Hindu gods and goddesses have been shown in an uncharitable way and using undignified language, which can trigger religious sentiments," the complainant said.

"Similarly, in the 22nd minute of the same episode, efforts have been made to ignite caste clashes. The person holding a dignified post like that of prime minister has been shown in a very derogatory manner throughout the web series," the FIR further stated.

The web series has tried to destroy the social fabric of the country and create tension, Yadav has said in his FIR.

A day ago, the Union Ministry of Information and Broadcasting had sought an explanation from Amazon Prime Video after taking cognizance of complaints that Hindu gods and goddesses have been ridiculed in the series.
